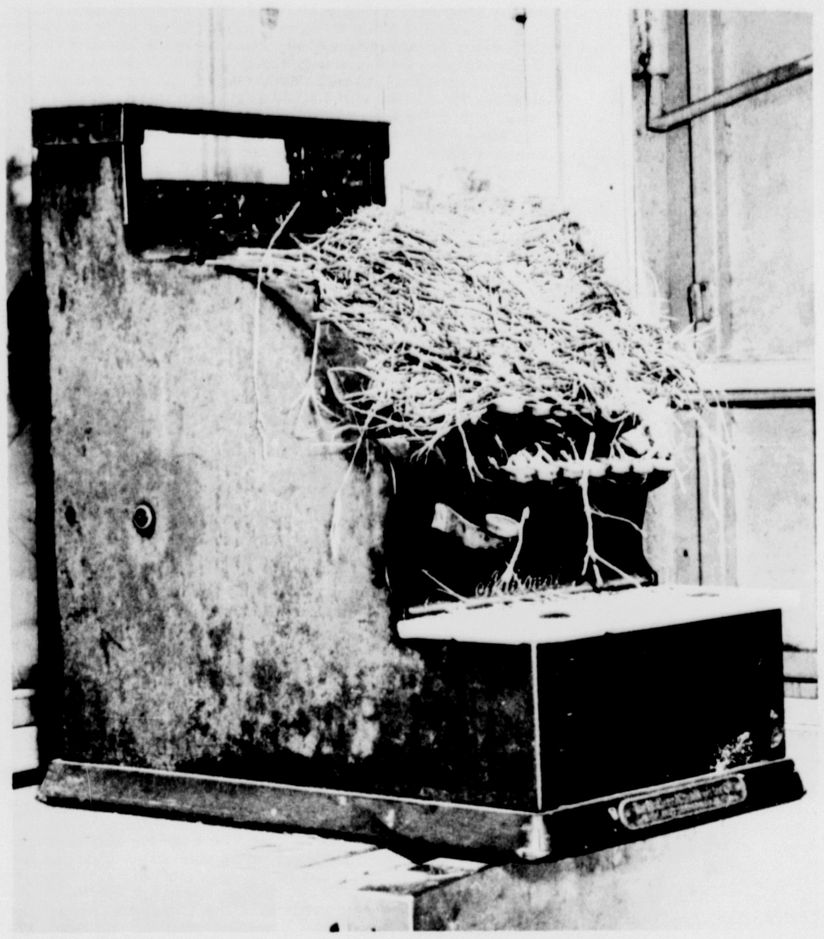
Apollo Crew Safely Recovered



IT WILL BE SOMETIME YET before the concession stand at the Sikeston Country Club swimming pool will open -- and its not because of the weather, although Mother Nature has had a big hand in the matter. Pictured here is a Robin's nest atop the stand's cash register. There are three baby birds in the nest, but they were napping at the time the photographer was around. Management at the country club has vowed not to disturb the nest until Mother Nature takes her full course and the birds fly away. (Photo by Dan D. Whittle)

Dexter Vote Set For June 10

DEXTER — The Dexter City Council has set June 10 for a special election to determine whether the Dexter police chief shall become an appointive post and possible "re-annexation of a portion of the McCormack sub-division, southeast of Dexter.

The sub-division annexation, costs of which are being paid for by the division's owners -- was approved by voters previously but, after having allegedly been "held incorrectly." Some 10.2 acres are included in the subdivision.

Presently, a city marshal is elected by city voters, with the city government having little direct control over him.

The proposal to be voted on calls for a police chief to be appointed on a regular basis by the Mayor and Council. The chief would have to answer to the city's governing body. The measure was voted down once before.

The former city marshal Howard Davis, and acting marshal Clay Baker, have both expressed their opinion that the appointive system is the best plan.

The othermatter to be decided by Dexter voters ia a "re- annexation" of a portion of the McCormack sub-division, south-east of Dexter. The annexation was voted on before, but done incorrectly. The new vote will annex 10.2 acres of land to the city. The cost of the new election is being borne by the division's owners.

In other matters the council heard a proposal from the Youth Committee for Community Bettermen, a newly formed youth organization. The Committee is currently trying to secure tennis courts for Dexter, and trying to have the city and school combine their efforts, and money.

Currently, the school is planning and the city park board is planning one court on city property. The Youth Committee is trying to get the city and school to combine their plans and build three "superior courts" for Dexter.

The Committee presented a petition to the Council signed by ten members of their organization. Randy Montgomery, junior co-chairman of the Committee, was spokesman and pointed out that the combined effort could "save both groups money and still provide superior tennis facilities for the people of Dexter."

A "land swap" was approved by the city council involving four feet of property owned by the Dexter Statesman and an alley behind the Statesman building on West Stoddard. In order to keep the alley in line with present position, the city and the Statesman swapped four feet on land along the alley. No change will result in the alley's position. All costs of the transfer will be bore by the Statesman.

Mayer Willis Conner presented a list of 28 retail outlets in Dexter that have not paid their retail merchants license, and pointed out that efforts were underway to collect them.

First Ward Alderman Eldon Cooper reported to the Council that he had received complaints that horseback riders were riding through the city's parks, disturbing those visiting the picnic or recreation areas. The police were alerted to watch for such violations.

The Council adjourned after discussing the problems several drive-in operators in Dexter are experiencing -- namely that cars are being left in the parking lot while their drivers leave in yet another auto. The city attorney, Paul McGhee, is checking into the problem, to see what the city's course will be.

The next Council meeting will be June 3.

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (AP) — Climaxing a voyage of discovery, the Apollo 10 moon explorers came safely home from the heavens Monday, blazing back through earth's atmosphere to a bull's eye landing in the South Pacific within sight of the recovery ship Princeton.

America's newest space heroes ended man's greatest and most dangerous space adventure when their sturdy sixton spaceship parachuted into gently rolling seas about three miles from the Princeton.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan landed at 12:52 p.m., EDT. The touchdown was about 400 miles east of Pago Pago, just at dawn in this part of the world.

As the craft descended, its tracking lights blinked in the semidarkness.

The pinpoint landing was a fitting climax to the near-flawless eight-day flight, a final dress rehersal which cleared the way for two astronauts to walk on the moon in less than two months.

"We are in great shape," Stafford radioed.

"We should be right on top of you if you're down there," Stafford radioed minutes before landing.

"I tell you this thing is beautiful," Young exulted.

Television pictures, relayed through a communications satellite, enabled millions of Americans to share the triumphal return of the three astronauts.

Viewers had a ringside seat as cameras focused on Apollo 10 floating down from space, dangling under three orange and white parachutes.

Hundreds of sailors wearing dress white lined the deck of the Princeton and cheered as they watched the stirring sight.

Helicopters spotted the astronauts several minutes before the splashdown and were hovering overhead within minutes.

Within minutes, Navy frogmen leaped from a helicopter. They attached a flotation collar and plugged in a telephone to talk with the astronauts.

Stafford, Young and Cernan traveled 76 hours outward to the moon, circled it 31 times in 61 hours and raced home along a 54-hour corridor. The flight lasted 8 days 3 minutes.

They logged about 700,000 miles and Stafford and Cernan made man's closest approach to another celestial body, riding a lunar landing vehicle to within 9.4 miles of the moon to scout a landing site for Apollo 11 in July. They rehearsed all phases of a landing mission except the actual touchdown.

Five hours before homecoming, they beamed a final telecast, showing the fast-approaching earth in brilliant color and transmitting their thoughts on their magnificent Odyssey. Stafford summed up the feelings this way:

'I think the future of manned space flight from now and many generations to come is going to uncover many, many other challenges and experiences that we are really incapable of even conceiving at this time."

To reach the Pacific, the astronauts survived man's fastest re-entry through the atmosphere.

Apollo 10 slammed into the outer limits of the atmosphere 400,000 feet high at 24,694 miles an hour, was punished by forces nearly seven times the pull of gravity and was blistered by heat of more than 5,000 degrees. The crew traveled 64 m.p.h. faster than the Apollo 8 pilots on their return from the moon in December.

The craft's heat shield protected the craft from burning up and the temperature inside the cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

Before hitting the atmosphere, Stafford, Young and Cernan jettisoned a service module attached to the command ship. The shedding of this equipment bay reduced Apollo 10's weight from 31,500 to about 12,000 pounds.

During the hottest, fastest part of re-entry, radio communications from the speeding vehicle were blacked out for about three minutes.

Right after blackout ended, two recovery force planes and the Princeton reported radar contact with the spaceship.

Minutes later, the ship, dangling under its parachutes, came within view of the ship.

The thickening atmosphere braked the speed, making it possible for three small parachutes to pop out and stabilize the spacecraft. Ships and planes quickly picked up the descending ship on radar.

At 10,000 feet, the three main 83.5-foot chutes blossomed majestically and Apollo 10 floated gently downward into the Pacific at a comparative snail's pace of 22 m.p.h.

Three hours before re-entry, the astronauts fired thrusters for 6.6 seconds to make a slight course adjustment that zeroed them in on the landing site.

Just five hours and 43,000 miles from splashdown, Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan pointed their television camera out the window and transmitted a brilliant color picture of the earth looming larger by the minute.

Each of the astronauts came on camera with some thoughts about the mission during which they circled the moon 2?% days.

Young: "The whole mission has been unbelievable. . We've felt very strong about sharing the adventure, the challenges and rewards of these eight days with the world through television. .. We hope we've made the millions of people of the world more a part of the history that's being made in our day and age."

Cernan: "I'm convinced after this mission that none of them are going to be easy. But nothing is impossible, and I think the future of manned spaceflight from now and many generations to come is going to uncover many, many other challenges and experiences that we are really incapable of even conceiving at this time."

Stafford: "Man has certainly progressed a long ways in just a few short years. And how much we're going to progress in the future is left to your imagination. But if we harness our energies and keep our perspectives right, the goals are unlimited.

See you back on the good earth."

Jet Hijacked With 20 Aboard

MIAMI (AP) — A Northeast Airlines jet with 20 persons aboard was hijacked to Cuba today, the 27th commercial aircraft diverted to the Caribbean island this year.

The Federal Aviation Agency at Miami said Northeast Flight No. 6 was east of Jacksonville, Fla., en route to New York when the pilot, Capt. Ted Connors, radioed he had been hijacked and was turning around.

"He didn't say who the hijacker was or whether he had a gun, knife or what," said Jim Frazier, area supervisor of the FAA office at Miami, where the flight originated.

Frazier said the Boeing 727 was due to arrive in Havana shortly after noon, EDT. He said a crew of six and 14 passengers were aboard.

Kenner makes his home in Dexter with his wife, Annette, and four children, Toni, Jeffrey, Lisa and David.

Thieves Hit Portageville

PORTAGEVILLE — Thievery in the Bootheel continued during the latter part of last week with two breakins and an attempted illegal entry being reported from Portageville.

According to Chief of Police Joe Moore six portable television sets valued at $100 were taken from Trader Dick's Furniture store Saturday night, while a transistor radio and anti-freeze testing equipment was taken from the Deep Rock Service station, according to Manager Loyd Smith.

The Williams' Save-Way Service Station oil room was broken into but the burglars were unable to gain entry, through the ladies' rest room, to the main offices.

Dale Brown, owner of a service station, across from Trader Dicks, discovered that breakin Sunday morning.

Chief Moore said all three breakins appeared to be the work of amateurs.

Body May Be Fahrenkrog's

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) —A body tentatively identified as that of Richard N. Fahrenkrog, father of the only quadruplets in the St. Louis area and an apparent suicide victim, was removed from the Missouri River near St. Charles Sunday, the state highway patrol said.

The 38-year-old Fahrenkrog, father of 10 children including the 2-year-old quads, jumped to his death from a bridge spanning the river May 14. The body was found by the captain of a towboat, the patrol said.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
MEMORIAL DAY LIVES ON, IN THE HEART

Memorial day, like other aspects of American life, has changed greatly in recent decades. The pace of modern living, the impact of mechanization and automation the pressure of population growth, all have had their effects.

The reason are too complex to be analyzed in a brief discussion. But the effects are clear. Articles on this page note the disappearance of the leisurely "Decoration" day observance with parade and speeches, that was common to towns and even cities a few decades back.

Other writers deplore the nation's growing sophistication coupled with a decline in the patriotic fervor which Memorial day once expressed. The far-off war in Vietnam has not stirred the unity at home which has supported American soldiers in other conflicts.

But the change in attitude toward Memorial day began long ago, and obviously for more general causes. Can it be that we have grown more blase in the face of death? It sometimes seems so, as we listen hour after hour and day after day to reports of deaths on the highways and in the streets, without effective counteraction. Have growing numbers inured us to the fate of individuals, as is the case in the crowded lands of the Orient? In many cities even a suitable place to be buried is not easy to find today. The problem is clear to anyone who has ridden into New York City from the Kennedy airport, through block after block of Calvary cemetery.

So our approach to Memorial day has changed with a changing America. We might be tempted to think that the day as a meaningful occasion is a thing of the past. But a visit to any cemetery today will prove the fallacy of that.

For now, as in the past, the graves have fresh wreaths and bouquets. Singly and in groups, visitors pay tribute to those they have loved, who still live in memory.

The ceremony and sometimes pomp of the past may be gone. But Memorial day lives in the family, and in the heart. And that is where it was always truly meaningful.

We wonder if those who advocating the retention of the 70 mile speed limit on Missouri's Interstate roads have ever driven on them.

If they kept their speed at the 70 miles per hour if they ever passed any other car unless it was stopped in the emergency lane.

If they kept account of the number of cars that passed them. There is no need to count the ones that pass as every car on the road passes them.

"Budget cuts may cripple state agencies" says a news story headline.

But we say not very much for they will continue to operate as in the past.

Knowing that the legislature will vote a deficiency appropration to cover all overspending just as they have in the past.

Maybe we need a new branch of state agency heads who will administer their jobs with some business ability.

LEST WE FORGET

On May 30th, we celebrate Memorial Day. This is the day set aside to pay tribute to the men and women who have for granted the liberty they did to preserve.

In gratitude to Abraham Lincoln, and to the men and women who preceded and those who followed him in death under the nation's flags, we invite you to read again these immortal words, first delivered at Gettysburg:

Four score and seven years ago our father brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that station might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate - we cannot consecrate - we cannot hallow - this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or to detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us - that from these honored dead we take increased devotion that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

If we were a member of the State Senate or house of Representatives we would not vote for any appropriation bill to cover the deficit created by any department in the state.

When the fiscal year appropriation is made for the fiscal year, the head of that department knows how much money his department will have and if he is competent to bid the department that he should be competent to run it on the money alloted.

If he could not run it on the money then we would remove him and try someone else.

What is the use of the Legislature making appropriations and then having them ignored. Why not just let the department heads go ahead where any alloted amount?

TAXPAYER FOOD STAMPS FED THE STRIKERS

Those who constructively question the federal government's attempts to solve all of man's ills are often confronted with a classic problem: they are frequently, and unfairly, cast in what has been labeled the "born aginner" mold.

It is not pleasant, for instance, to oppose a federal plan, no matter how ill-conceived, that helps put food in the stomachs of the families of workers who go on strike.

However, the recent strike against the Ford Motor Co., points up the reason why questions should be raised about certain programs and practices.

During October, 3,809 families of workers striking Ford in Detroit alone, representing 16,970 individuals, obtained food stamps with a purchasing power of $273,171 and these workers were able to obtain them through provisions of the Food Stamp Act of 1964. A second government office had to be set up to accommodate the increased demand for stamps.

Isn't the food stamp program designed to subsidize the food purchasing power of the poor? If so, should these stamps be used to pay for costs during a strike, especially when a substantial strike fund is available and strikers should be subject to economic risks as is management?

If food stamps are given other Food strikers in other parts of the country and to all strikers in other industries, literally millions of tax dollars can be spent each year to help prolong strikes by minimizing the effect of economic pressures which otherwise might shorten them.

After all, dual risks are supposed to be at the heart of our system of collective bargaining. Or are they?

These questions nag the man's conscience who pays the taxes.

No need to tell US what you are. We'll find that out when YOU drive your car.

While many of us sit around and gripe about the increasing costs of car insurance, let's take a look at recent statistics compiled by The Travelers Insurance which reports the 1968 traffic death toll reached 55,300. This was 3,000 more than killed in 1967. Injuries in 1968 rose to 4,400,000 from 4,200,000 in 1967.

While more than 40 per cent of driver-error-caused deaths of America's highways in 1968 were blamed on excessive speed, only 20 per cent of the injuries were attributed to this item. The second major cause of fatalities blamed on the actions of drivers was reckless driving. It figured in nearly 15 per cent of the deaths and more than 39 per cent of the injuries.

The conclusion, voiced many times before, is "speed kills".

Other major factors involving actions of drivers resulting in deaths and injuries include driving on the wrong side of the road, not having the right-of-way, and driving off the roadway.

In the ten year period from 1959 through 1968, young driver involvement in fatal accidents increased more than 20 per cent. Last year, precisely one-third of people at the wheel when accidental death occurred in car crashes were 25 years of younger. The implication of immaturity expressed by speed in inescapable, said The Travelers spokesman, "under-25 drivers amount to only one-fifth of the driver total but they are in the terrible middle of one-third of all fatal auto crashes."

And let's not overlook the part of old John Barleycorn in this American tragedy. A study by the U. S. Department of Transportation concludes that "the use of alcohol by drivers and pedestrians leads to some 25,000 deaths and a total of at least 800,000 crashes in the U. S. each year."

Somehow and someway, we must require safer driving from all ages involved -- and increasing restrictions on those who do not obey the traffic laws of the land. This carnage on our streets and highways cannot go on even though out highways are improved to meet all safety standards.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

A husband may cut down his own risk of death from heart attack by helping keep his wife alive. That grief, or a change of conduct resulting from it, is life threatening, was implied by a recent British medical survey of middle-aged widowers. It found that fatal coronaries among them were 67 per cent above the expecture figure for married men their age who had not lost their wives.

In Japan you no longer need to depend on your own muscle to get into commuter trains. They have become so crowded that the national railway system has hired 506 more men whose duty it is to shove passengers into the trains—literally.

Mother, if your child is a thumbsucker, you don't have to worry too much about it unless he continues the habit after the age of five. Then he could do damage to the alignment of his permanent teeth, which begin erupting when he is about six.

The good old days: In 1934, Lyndon B. Johnson bought a wedding ring for Claudia Alta Taylor, later better known as Lady Bird, for $2.50.

Whoosh: Duke University engineers are working on small scale models of air-propelled vehicles which in the future may be developed to carry people and freight through tubes placed at ground or subsurface level.

High price: In bank robberies the cost of the pursuit as well as the loss of the loot can be expensive. The FBI figures it may cost up to $150,000 for it to solve a robbery of a bank in which federal funds are deposited.

In business, the process of the gingham do eating up the calico cat is speeding at an increasing rate. In the last two years alone more than 4,000 U.S. corporate mergers have been consummated.

Executive signs: This one is on the desk of Elmer Winter, president of Manpower, Inc.: "Some people are like blisters. They don't show up until the work is done."

Nothing to sneeze at: Pepper, one of the oldest spices known to man, historically was one of the most valuable articles of commerce. When Alaric the Gothic king conquered Rome, he demanded 3,000 pounds of pepper as part of his ransom price for the Eternal City.

Worth remembering: "Even though you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there."

Folklore: It will bring you bad luck if you pick up a dropped knife that is pointing toward you. Less than seven spots on a ladybug's wing covers indicates a good harvest. The numbers that are most likely to prove lucky in a lottery are those ending in 3, 7, 9 and 12. Eating too much meat will make you badtempered.

WHY NOT STRIP?

One of the mysteries of the Vietnam war has been the failure of the Administration to put our forces there on a "scrip" currency rather than continuing the dollar payroll.

One of the lessons of World War II was the realization that scrip tended to frustrate blackmarketeering and corruption. But after an unbroken seven years of dollar economy in Vietnam, both flourish and still the Administration has taken no official notice.

It is all but impossible for the citizen who has not lived in a country blighted by a long period of war to comprehend what eventually becomes commonplace. In Germany, at the end of World War II, with scrip still the GI currency, a cigarette economy developed. American-manufactured cigarettes were currency. One didn't leave a coin for the waiter or waitress in the hotel dining room. They were forbidden to receive or own scrip. And so one left a cigarette or two. The same for the porter at the railroad station. One bought merchandise in the stores with packages of cigarettes. There were high-level arguments over this frightening looting of the German economy with cigarettes, and finally the black market was broken by flooding the country with a few plane-loads of cigarettes flown in from the States. But not before a carton of American cigarettes came to be worth ten times its purchase price in the marketplace in German cities. Not even scrip is a complete answer to the problem, obviously but with intelligent reaction to inspired and conspired shortages, it is an effective control.

True, scrip didn't solve the passion of the Soviets in Berlin's Eastern Zone for American wrist watches. A $60 American wrist watch was worth at least ten times that amount to Soviet soldiers who would trade that much value in loot they had heisted from German homes. In Japan, believe it or not, the prize currency at one stage was flints for cigarette lighters. There just weren't any to be had, and a ten-cent package of ligher flints was worth as much as $20 in loot.

These are the kinds of things which have been going on in Vietnam for years. A half-million Amerians being paid in dollars has created a fantastic market in corruption Some GI's are getting rich. Some Vietnamese are getting rich. Guess who is reaping the biggest harvest? De Gaulle. It's the French who have the biggest economic ties to Saigon.

Tons of our dollars are going to Paris via Saigon. Scrip would cut that flow to a trickle.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Health aftermaths of Dodd censure continue; reason for Committee opposition to banking investigation is now revealed; Bankers were placed on House Banking Committee

WASHINGTON--With the appointment of a new Chief Justice to the Supreme Court, Sen. Tom Dodd of Connecticut has taken heart and renewed his litigation against this column. However, the public benefits accruing from the Dodd censure continue to multiply.

Congressmen have recently filed their financial returns under the new code of ethical conduct adopted after the Dodd investigation, and they throw significant light on several previous congressional battles.

One of these was the backstage battle to limit the power of Rep. Wright Patman, elder statesman from Texarkana, Tex., chairman of the banking and currency committee, and a valiant defender of the public were high interest rates and dubious banking practices are concerned. Two years ago members of his committee ganged up on him to hamstring his investigative powers, remove his investigators and otherwise make impotent his power as a long-time bank critic.

Financial statements, which members of Patman's committee have ow filed, , give a significant clue to their passion for protecting the banks. Most of them held stock in either banks or building and loan associations.

Here is the roll call of Congressmen who battled backstage to clip the wings of their chairman when he wanted to be too forthright in pushing investigations of banks. All the Republicans on Patman's committee voted against him. They included:

--Friends of Bankers--

William Brock, Tenn., who it is now revealed is a stockholder in the Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga and Knoxville; Chester Mize of Kansas, who owns stock in a bank holding company; William Stanton of Ohio, who owns stock in the lake County (Ohio) National Bank.

In addition, the following Democrats ganged up against their fellow Democrat: Tom Gettys, S.C., trustee of an estate with stock in the rock hill national bank of Rock Hill., S.C.; William Moorhead of Pennsylvania, with stock in the mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh; Robert Stevens of Georgia with stock in he First National Bank of Athens, Ga.

Not all members of this committee voted their pocketbook interests, however. Henry Reuss of Wisconsin owns stock in a family banking company in Milwaukee; Tom Rees of California owns stock in the community bank of San Jose and the Westdale Savings and Loan; Richard T. Hanna, also of California, owns stock in occidental savings and loan. All voted with Patman, and Rees was instrumental in working out the compromise to help the chairman. Leonor Sullivan of Missouri, who owns stock in the liberty loan, Mercantile Trust and Mound City Trust of St. Louis, also voted with Patman.

A new banker has now been added to the banking and currency committee, Republican Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Jr. of Maryland, a director of the First National Bank and Trust of Baltimore.

--Tempting Offer--

The manner in which Bankers deliberately try to plant conflicts of interest in the banking and currency committee is illustrated by a conversation reported by Rep. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, one of the few Spanish-American members of Congress. After he was appointed to this key banking committee, says Gonzalez, he received a visit from a San Antonio businessman banker.

"You are very popular in the part of town where we are going to have the bank," said the Banker. "It would be very helpful to have you in a serious business enterprise. In fact, we would like you to be chairman of the board."

The Banker reached for his brief case and started to pen it.

"We have prepared some papers," he said. "We think it would be a mutually profitable arrangement. We know you don't have any side interests, and your name would be helpful to us."

'Surely, broke in Gonzalez, "You know I am a member of the committee on banking and currency of the house."

The Banker looked at him quite innocently and replied: "No, I didn't know that."

"You are not going to tell me you were not aware of my committee standing," demanded Gonzalez, getting hot under the collar.

"I have these papers here," he said, "and we are going to let you have $14,000 in stock." The money, he suggested, could be paid back "in time." Gonzalez showed his visitor to the door.

Only the refusal by Gonzalez, apparently, made the incident unique. At least a dozen members of the house banking committee have had no compunction about accepting stock in the institutions whose profits they can affect.

--Headlines and Footnotes--

While Secretary of State Bill Rogers has been visiting Saigon and Paris in quest of peace, his detractors inside the White House have been quietly knifing him. An anti-rogers whispering campaign has been started by members of the palace guard who have been boasting that Rogers will be out before the end of the year . . The word has been spread inside the navy that the military code no longer is mandatory but is merely instructive. This is the effect of the decision not to court martial commander Lloyd Bucher, the Pueblo skipper. In other words, the military code will be no longer be binding upon naval personnel but will be merely a guideline . . . Howard Chernoff, whom Nixon has made Commissioner-General for the U.S. exhibit at the Japanese world's fair, has been an expert in promoting the United States image abroad for several years in the U.S. information agency. Chernoff is also an expert on wild animals, having been the godfather of the San Diego zoo.

Doc. Duncan Says

Gramp how come they're gonna take pollyticks out of the Post Office?

Wal you see when they gets party mens in they say sometimes the people mail is red. And that's leaked to party bizness men then they know where to hit their competers below the belt. You see they is only one law in polleticks, the law of the jungle if you are in no law can touch you, if you are out, no law can protect you.

H.L. Hunt Says

WHAT CAN ONE PERSON DO?

Our Republic is in danger from communism and crime. Our people are waking up tothe perils of riotous demands and demonstrations. Many ask, "What can I, one person, do?"

Those opposed to rising crime and communism can encourage and assist the ones most actively opposing crime and communism. We must never quit trying to start crusades, large or small. "Crusade" may seem a high-sounding word, but one simple dictionary definition is, "Any remedial enterprise undertaken with zeal and enthusiasm."

Any one person can undertake such an enterprise. A few individuals, working together with zeal and enthusiasm, can perform wonders for the cause of liberty. To oppose crime and communism and to encourage and assist those seasoned Friends of Freedom who have carried the load so long, the Freedomists in a family should organize. They and their close friends are with each other daily and can see quite well the factors and forces with which they will be dealing.

The enemies of freedom regiment willingly, become well organized and therefore are effective, as we can see every day that brings a new demonstration or riotous demand. It is easy for them to organize, since they prefer discipline. Regimentation is required for dictators and they always despoil and enslave.

There are big movements we would like to see initiated and pursued, but while waiting for them to turn the tide, let us take on the righteous armour of crusade and do everything we should and can do that is proper. Those who continue to actively oppose communism and crime and have become the defamed, so called "cranky extremists" are the best prospects to save our Republic with the encouragement of the silent majority. Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

THE FUTURE REVISITED:

Reuther Planning Moscow Visit After Launching New U.S. Labor Movement.

Washington, D.C.: — It's been a long time since Walter Reuther bicycled most of the way to Moscow.

It's almost 40 years since he went to look personally at the future -- and supported himself there by working on the line.

Having lived and prospered during that turbulent future, the auto union chief, who intemittently turns recluse these days, plans to return to the Soviet Union this summer.

The rare associates who talk with the increasingly tense 61-year-old Reuther these days report that he is accepting the invitation of the Soviet "labor" chairman, Aleksandr Shelepin -- and that the Detroiter waited until he could revisit Moscow as head of a new U.S. labor federation -- the Alliance for Labor Action.

Considerable imagination has gone into planning the "First Founding Conference" of the labor "Alliance." No one knows quite how one report began circulating -- but it certainly did startle balmy Washington -- that the surprise guest and speaker of note would be James Riddle Hoffa, hale and hearty, albeit a bit pale from prison pallor.

Apparently the drum beaters were not counting on the pulling power of the scheduled speakers -- Whitney Young of the National Urban League, the countrywide black service organization, and Secretary of Labor Geoge Shultz.

Apparently there had also been a dearth of delegates -- and affiliation by unions other than the Auto Workers and the Teamsters Brotherhood. Some of the small unions which Mr. Reuther had wooed decided they just were not going to yield any jurisdiction to the Alliance, especially since some of those unions have central treasury and pension funds totaling more than $100 million.

In fact, the brothers from the Teamsters suddenly chilled a little when they learned that the basic charter of the new labor federation might obligate them to pay out millions of dollars on "crusades" which might pay off quite badly and over which they might have little control.

Teamsters' counselors and accountants did some quick reckoning in the final prefounding convention hours and discovered that Walter Reuther was talking of massive campaigns which would cost scores of millions of dollars.

It was all here in the Conference Call, written by Mr. Reuther and dispatched as recently as May 16.

"The purpose of the Alliance for Labor Action...," said the Call, "is to make a maximum contribution in cooperation with others in the national, state and local community efforts to deal effectively with America's many urgent social problems in the fields of education, housing, health care, full employment, human relations and environmental problems and other areas essential to the building of a more just society."

One Teamsters house counsel, after reading the manifesto, quipped that, "it looks like we're about to relieve President Nixon of his headaches, the White House of its problems, the Cabinet of its assignments, and set up an interim government."

The lawyers then warned members of the Teamsters General Executive Board that they could incur whopping debts in the immediate course of this sociological surge. But the Brotherhood's leaders pushed on. Why?

Association with Mr. Reuther has already paid off in some eminent circles. The esteemed American Arbitration Assn., appearing to believe that what's good enough for Walter Reuther is good enough for them, named Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons (stand-in for James Hoffa) as one of its prestigious directors. The Teamsters magazine made much of this. It's now par for the course (including some fine golf links) now being traveled by brother "Fitz."

As for Mr. Reuther -- he needs powerful allies.

Explosive revolution is flaring throughout the United Auto Workers. Mr. Reuther's ramparts are being assailed by young workers, black workers, and a pincer movement of union chiefs whom he has scalded with skillfully aimed verbal vitriol for exactly three years now.

Mark these lines well. It's safe to predict that these forces will intensify the pressure on Mr. Reuther and his union inside and out until observers will wonder how both he and the UAW can withstand the heat.

The auto union's basic contracts with the Big Three car manufacturers expire in the fall of 1970. That's just around a very hot corner. It may well be that Mr. Reuther and his fellow officers will go into negotiations without the power to decide which plants will be kept open or which companies should be closed down. That decision may well be made for him by militant young white and black workers.

And without the power to decide that plants will remain open or be struck, how can the Reuther team negotiate?

And so he'll need allies, a show of solidarity, the closing of a second front by a force such as the Teamsters should other powerful unions which he has taunted endlessly decide to raid his jurisdiction.

That's the future Mr. Reuther sees. If he doesn't, he's not the old "Walter." And not even his even-handed critics say he's not.

Ann Landers

Sis Acts 'Goofy' Over New Medicine

Dear Ann Landers: My sister, who is the mother of three darling children, has been acting awfully goofy of late. Ruth talks a lot more than she used to and much of her conversation makes no sense. Her husband told me in confidence that Ruth has been going to two doctors and neither one knows about the other. I'm beginning to put the pieces together since he mentioned his concern about the number of pills she takes.

I strongly suspect Ruth is getting some sort of "prescription only" drug from both doctors and that she is hopped up from too much stuff. Can this be dangerous? What should be done about it? -- Mrs. No Name

Dear Mrs.: This can be dangerous. Like very. Also foolish. Your sister isn't hurting the doctors but she is jeopardizing her health and maybe her life. Ruth's husband should telephone each doctor and inform him of the other. And I hope you will urge him to do so at once. It could be a matter of life and death.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week our 3-year-old son got the mumps. The first thing the doctor asked was, "Has your husband had the mumps?" I asked Bennie and he couldn't remember so I called my mother-in-law. She said, "How am I supposed to know what happened 30 years ago? Two of my boys had mumps, but I don't know if it was Bennie and Louie or Louie and Izzy."

I called Louie. He said he had the mumps and he thought Bennie had them too, but he wasn't positive. So, the doctors gave my husband a shot. He was sick as a dog for a half a day.

Yesterday Izzy called to say he heard Bennie was sick from a mumps shot and asked, "Why did he take it? Bennie had the mumps when I did."

Please tell mothers everywhere that they can save their kids a lot of trouble by keeping a record of who had what. Thank you. -- Zy Gezundt

Dear Zy: Right you are: But don't be too hard on your mother-in-law. Better for Bennie that he took a shot he didn't need than to have needed a shot he didn't take.

Dear Ann: Does the local newspaper office open the letters to you and then send them all together in a large envelope? Or do you receive the letters unopened? I guess what I really want to know is this: Do the people who work in the newspaper office, of say the Arkansas Gazette, see the Ann Landers mail before you do? -- Needing Anonymity

Dear Needing: All mail addressed to Ann Landers is forwarded to me unopened. It is a federal offense to intentionally open a letter addressed to another party.

Confidential to Is The Time Now?: In my opinion -- no. It is a wise person who knows when to seize an opportunity. It is a wiser one still who knows when to forego an advantage.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Refreshments of cake and coffee served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be June 16.

Immunization For Millions Of Children

ATLANTA (AP) — Millions of American youngsters will be immunized in a program designed to free the nation of German measles—a disease that causes birth defects.

The program will be started this summer, officials of the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) said Wednesday.

They said 8 million to 10 million children would be vaccinated in the first phase of the program and that eventually 40 million to 50 million children would be immunized.

The program is a massive effort to build resistance to the virus in children because they are its usual carriers, NCDC officials said.

Children—most likely to come in contact with the virus—pass it along to pregnant mothers. The disease, normally mild, is dangerous to pregnant women because it can cause malformation or death of the fetus.

The NCDC says outbreaks of German measles occur every six to nine years. An estimated 20 million persons were stricken during the last outbreak in 1964.

That outbreak the NCDC said, resulted in 50,000 abnormal pregnancies, 20,000 still births, and 30,000 children born with defects.

A new outbreak is expected by the NCDC this winter.

Dr. David J. Sencer, the NCDC director, said the new vaccine, developed about five years ago at the National Institute of Health division of biological standards, is expected to receive governmental approval within a month and be placed into general production. It has been under test for 3½ years.

Sencer said distribution arrangements are being made with 63 health departments around the country and that he has asked Congress for $9.6 million to finance the program.

Retains Title

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Oak Park of Kansas City successfully defended its Missouri state high school baseball championship Saturday, beaten Lafayette of St. Louis County, 5-1, on the same diamond where Oak Park won its title last year.

Ken Hollander permitted Lafayette seven hits while his Oak Park mates got only four. Hollander pitched out of jams in the first and second innings, striking out two batters in the second with two on base.

Oak Park left only two runners on base. Rick Keesee singled to center in the second inning and circled the bases when the ball eluded the fielder.

Oak Park scored four runs in the sixth on three bunts, two of them safe; a walk, two errors, a wild pitch and a wild pitch attempt.

Lafayette's run came in the fourth on singles by Dan Bullock and Don Howard and a double by Don Muse.

Oak Park was 19-8 for the season, with Hollander pitching eight of the victories.

MOUND CONFERENCE was held Friday during semi-final round play in the Missouri state high school baseball tournament in Springfield Friday. This one includes North Pemiscot's infield and coach Dave McMahon, second from right. Johnny McCulloch, center, gave up four runs as their opponents, Lafayett took the Southeast Missouri district winners for a 4-0 win and eliminated them from further action.

Gibson Wins Sixth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson shackled the Los Angeles Dodgers with a 4-0 shutout Sunday, in his brilliant career.

The Cardinals furnished him with a 15-hit attack, scoring three times in the third on five consecutive hits and pushed across the fourth run on three singles in the fourth.

Gibson walked three and struck out nine en route to his sixth victory and third shutout of the season against only two losses.

Meanwhile, around the National League circuit.

Jimmy Wynn has walloped four home runs in Houston's last four-games - a pretty good pace.

But Wynn's slugging clip is only about half as fast as the one Lee May is following. May tagged two more homers in Cincinnati's 7-2 victory over Montreal Sunday, giving him four in two games.

Wynn's eighth inning shot helped Houston's streaking Astros to a 6-3 victory over the New York Mets and gave him 12 for the year, tying him for the National League lead with May.

The two-man tie lasted about two hours or until Willie McCovey cracked his 12th and third in four games for San Francisco, making it a threeway deadlock. But McCovey couldn't prevent the Giants from dropping both ends of a doubleheader to Pittsburgh, 2-1 and 6-2.

In other National League games Sunday, Atlanta trimmed Philadelphia 4-1, and San Diego split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the first game 10-2 and dropping the second 1-0.

May drilled a three-run homer to break a 1-1 tie in the third inning and then unloaded a leadoff shot in the sixth. In two games, he drove in eight runs against the hapless Expos, who lost their 10th straight.

"I'm in the groove now," the soft-spoken Reds' first baseman said. "I'm just meeting the ball. This hitting is all within yourself. When you find yourself, is when you begin hitting."

May has smacked seven homers in the last 10 games and he got plenty of help Sunday. Bobby Tolan also homered for the Reds and Alex Johnson and Tony Perez added two hits apiece with Perez driving in a pair of runs.

Norm Miller smacked four hits and Curt Blefary three as the Astros hopped on Tom Seaver and whipped the Mets. Wynn's eighth inning homer gave Houston some extra breathing room.

The Astros, who've won eight straight and 17 of the 21 this month, hopped on Seaver, 6-3, for three runs in the first inning with Blefary's double and runscoring singles by Miller and Jesus Alou.

Jim Bunning won his 200th major league game, beating San Francisco for Pittsburgh in the opener of their doubleheader with Willie Stargell's eighth-inning double driving home the winning run.

Then McCovey and Bobby Bonds hit second game homers for the Giants but it wasn't enough as the Pirates completed the sweep. Bill Mazeroski's homer touched off a three-run Pittsburgh third and Carl Taylor later tagged his first major league homer for two more runs.

Atlanta used its pitching cousins - George Stone and Cecil Upshaw - to throttle Philadelphia on five hits.

Indy Field Set

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The emphasis is back on the drivers for this year's Indianapolis 500, with A.J. Foyt driving from the pole position for a record fourth victory in the Memorial Day race.

The turbine car, which came close to winning the last two years, and part of the 500's international flavor disappeared Sunday as the starting field of 33 cars was completed.

This year's only turbine entry qualified at 156.440 miles per hour, four m.p.h. slower than any other car, and it was only a matter of time until it was bumped from the field.

Foyt won the pole with a speed of 170.568 m.p.h.

The number of foreign drivers in this year's race shrank to two when the builder and designer of the Lotus cars, Colin Chapman of Britain, withdrew the last of the Lotuses, driven by Jochen Rindt of Austria and 1966 Indy winner Graham Hill of Britain. They made no qualifying attempts.

"It's tragic, I think," said Hill. "Lotus put so much time into these cars."

Denis Hulme of New Zealand and Jack Brabham of Australia are the only foreign drivers in the race.

Chapman said the Lotuses were withdrawn because of concern over the safety of their wheel hubs.

Foyt, surprised at winning the pole Saturday despite trouble in his car's exhaust system, said, "With a little lady luck we're in good shape."

He was joined in the front row by two-time pole sitter Mario Andretti and defending champion Bobby Unser. Andretti, from Nazareth, Pa., qualified in 169.851 m.p.h. and Unser, the Albuquerque, N.M., driver, who won from the third spot last year, had a 169.683.

The second row drivers, who posted speeds of 168 m.p.h., are led by Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., a highly regarded Indy rookie with an Ivy League and sports car background.

Veterans Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., and Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., took the fifth and sixth spots.

McCluskey is driving one of the three cars entered by owner-driver Foyt. George Snider of Bakersfield, Calif., put the other car in the 15th starting spot to give the team a 3-for-3 record.

In contrast, STP magnate Andy Granatelli of Chicago, got only three of his 11 entries in. The Lotuses were among the STP cars.

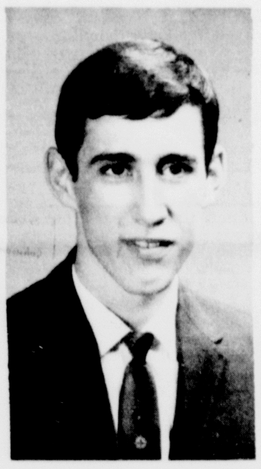
Andretti, Granatelli's main hope, demolished another Lotus last week when a hub broke off and switched to an older car with a Brawner Hawk chasis and turbo-charged Ford engine.

Foyt, whose car also is turboFord powered, looked forward to the Friday race with the observation that "Mario will fight you till the end. He's worse than me."

"I didn't think I had a chance for the pole until Mario qualified at 169," Foyt said.

Unser and Donohue both have Lola cars with turbocharged Offenhauser engines. In all, the field has 11 turbo-Fords, 19 turbo-Offys, Dan Gurney's stock block Ford engine and the two Australian-made Repco engines in Brabham cars.

Billy Vukovich, last year's Rookie of the Year, was the fastest qualifier Sunday.



DANIEL DEMPSTER Jr., a member of the 1969 graduation class was the winning of the athletic award at ceremonies recently. He was a member of the basketball, baseball and track teams and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dempster of Benton.

Sounds ridiculous, doesn't it?

But what if everybody in this country were to throw their hands up in despair and say they don't give a hoot.

Indeed, there would be no tomorrow.

But fortunately, Americans have a way of solving their problems.

And that's just what's going to happen in these troubled times. Simply because it's always been an American tradition.

Now, how can you as one little 'ole citizen in this big, wide country of ours be of any help?

Well, think about U.S. Savings Bonds.

No, it isn't an immediate remedy for all our ills. But it helps.

If everybody were to buy Bonds, your country would be stronger economically to wipe out some of those scars we've been sporting.

Of course, everybody would be helping themselves too. If you were to sign up for Payroll Savings at work, you'd have quite a nice nest egg for yourself one of these days.

For things like college educations, that new home, or a secure retirement.

So think about U.S. Savings Bonds today.

FROM THE SIKESTON HERALD FRIDAY, May 24, 1918

H. L. Clayton arrived home on Wednesday from Camp Funston, where he is in training for army service. He has a six-day furlough and will leave here next Tuesday.

Mrs. Bettie Matthews and Mrs. Mollie Marshall spent a few days this week in Poplar Bluff visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. J. C. Corrigan and family, returning home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Moore and baby and Mrs. P. I. Bonner of Canalou, were here Wednesday enroute to Cairo where Mrs. Moore entered St. Mary's Informary for treatment.

Save the difference. Trade at the "Farmers."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Banks and children of Malden, arrived here Wednesday to visit Mrs. Banks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilkins and family. Mr. Banks will leave the latter part of this week for Alabama, where he will work for the Government.

Fresh Strawberries. They're fine. - "Farmers."

The case of J. C. Davis, plantiff, vs. W. L. Carroll, defendant, for $39.60 which the former claimed the latter owned him was tired before J. C. Lescher Monday. Attorney Matt Reichert represented the plaintiff, Mr. Davis got judgment against the defendant for this amount.

M. G. Pittman, general manager in Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, was here this week on business connected with the local agency. A. E. Shankle having resigned as agent for the company in Sikeston, J. D. McCue was secured to succeed him.

Lee W. Rood, field agent for Westminster College, Fulton, Mo. the past year but formerly of Caruthersville, has arrived safely in France. He went in the interest of the Y.M.C.A. work. His son, Robert F. Rood, who was with the flying corps, has been detained on Long Island on account of a sprained ankle and was unable to sail with his companions but will go as soon as he is able. Mrs. Rood will probably apply for a clerical position under the Government and will do her "bit" in this country where help is so badly needed.

Mr. M. J. Snider,
Chief Engineer
State Highway Commission
Jefferson City, Mo.

Dear Marvin:

Many thanks for your letter of May 7 with enclosed progress report of Interstate Route 55 from Festus to Fruitland.

I appreciate your sending this to me very much.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,
Warren E. Hearnes

Honorable Warren E. Hearnes
Governor of Missouri
State Capitol Building
Jefferson City, Mo. 65101

Dear Governor Hearnes:

I am enclosing our report showing the status of plans and right-of-way acquitition on Interstate Route 55 from Festus to Fruitland as of May 1, 1969. You will note that this chart shows little, if any, progress during the month on any of the sections. This is due to the sections in Ste. Genevieve County being in the hands of our Legal Division where the condemnation petition is being written. We have and are still encountering considerable delay in clearing up this right of way and is even causing the delay in filing the condemnation petition. The delay stems from water mains which in some cases are located on public rights of way and in other cases on private rights of way. Even the case where we offer to pay the cost of moving, we are unable to get an estimate of cost and a location of the existing lines and the desired relocation. The representatives of the water district simply tell us that they are too busy to furnish the information.

I understand that we have finally received the abstract information that was holding us up for some time; thanks to you.

We are prepared to place the Ste. Genevieve County projects under contract as soon as the right of way can be cleared. We also think that we could finance the Cape Girardeau section as soon as that right of way is cleared.

If the Perry County sections would clear up first, we would give serious consideration to letting contracts on them. In other words, we want to get the work under contract as soon as possible.

Yours very truly,
Chief Engineer

Astronauts Shave in Space For First Time

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts shaved in space for the first time Sunday. No American astronaut had tried it before.

"We were getting where we could barely stand ourselves there for awhile," Eugene A. Cernan said as his teammates' beardless chins appeared on color television from space.

The space agency had spent thousands of dollars trying unsuccessfully to develop a power razor.

Experts had said the shorn bristles would float around in the weightlessness of space. No razor ever made it off the ground.

Then a fellow astronaut bought a safety razor in a drug store and gave it to the Apollo 10 men.

So Cernan, Thomas P. Stafford and John W. Young shaved the regular way and had no problems.

"After spending a lot of money on mechanical shavers—which always manage to leave the whiskers flying around the atmosphere—somebody finally came up with the idea of using a razor and brushless shaving cream," Young reported with deadpan seriousness.

"You rub it on and it keeps the whiskers when you shave it off," Young continued. "Put it in a towel and dispose of it and you end up clean shaven."

Many astronauts have complained about their itchy beards bothering them in space.

When they broke out the shaving equipment Sunday, Stafford only hinted at what they were doing, calling it "scientific experiment Sugar Hotel Alpha Victor Echo."

The first letters of the last five words spell "S-H-A-V-E."

Presents Recital

Mrs. Helen Loud Jones presented her piano pupils in a recital Sunday afternoon at the Sikeston Public Library. A large crowd was present. The selections were well rendered and enjoyed.

Miss Karon Shipman, who is at home for a vacation from The School of the Ozarks, where she is studying music, played a selection. Karon is a former pupile of Mrs. Jones.

HHH Says Bombing May Have Prolonged War

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, whose unsuccessful presidential campaign was entangled in the controversy over Johnson administration Vietnam policy, says President Nixon now is able to deal with Ho Chi Minh without the constant attention of Communist China and the Soviet Union.

And Humphrey said the bombing—which was one of the biggest issues of the controversy—may have been responsible more than anything else for keeping the North Vietnamese in the war.

The former vice president said in an interview that Red China and the Soviet Union are more concerned with each other—rather than Vietnam—since their border battles.

"In other words," said Humphrey, "Ho Chi Minh sits up there in the North with the two big brothers staring at each other eyeball to eyeball across the border between the Soviet Union and China. They've got bigger fish to fry and more dangerous things to face and greater interests than North and South Vietnam."

Humphrey voiced approval of the President's statement of Vietnam policy, but said Nixon "is going to be in trouble" over domestic problems "unless he reverses his field."

"I think President Nixon and his Administration have misjudged the urgency of the domestic crisis—I mean the danger of it." Humphrey termed the budget for domestic programs inadequate.

The pattern of violence on the campus, Humphrey said, "is only just a transfer of the pattern of violence from what was the ghetto violence a little while ago.

"Now that can be transferred back into the ghetto immediately and with grave dangers. And I think Mr. Nixon's budget is inadequate ... I think the sense of urgency is not there. I think he knows what the facts are, but I don't believe there is the feeling you have to move as rapidly as I believe we have to."

In making his statement on Vietnam, Humphrey said, Nixon "actually said nothing new. But it was a new man that said it, and the timing was fortuitous" in that it came after the National Liberation Front issued its 10-point settlement plan indicating "some movement on their part."

Stephens Presents Optomistic Program

Herb Stephens, Optimist program chairman, presented a colored film today at the Rustic Rock on the rehabilitating hundreds of children at the Shriners hospital, St. Louis.

A member of the Sikeston Shriners, Mr. Stephens, explained through the film, how many patients, from small infants to teenage children, overcame body deformities, through treatment at an early age.

He reminded club members that any family, who has a child that needs attention, may contact a Shriner for admittance to the hospital.

Laird Defends Viet Battlefield Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has spoken out in support of U.S. battlefield tactics in Vietnam, which Democratic critics say cause needless loss of American lives.

"It's always been our goal to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties," Laird said Sunday, adding that U.S. commanders continue under instructions to carry out this policy.

Laird, a Republican congressman from Wisconsin before President Nixon appointed him defense chief, outlined his view in an interview before he boarded his airplane for a week-long North Atlantic Treaty Organization planning conference in Brussels and London.

Battlefield tactics have come under mounting criticism from Democratic leaders since the 10-day battle in which GIs drove North Vietnamese off Dong Ap Bia Mountain in 11 assaults that cost some 50 American lives.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D.-Mass., called the battle "senseless and irresponsible" in a Senate speech last week and his stand was supported over the weekend by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Mansfield said Sunday the United States is jeopardizing progress in the Paris peace talks by escalating the war through expanded military pressure creating an "act-react syndrome."

"What we ought to do is not so much apply pressure in Vietnam as to instead apply pressure in Paris," the Montana senator said. "That is where peace is going to be made, not on the battlefield."

Mansfield made the comment on CBS' ' Face the Nation."

McGovern praised Kennedy Saturday for speaking out "in protest against a truly senseless slaughter" and added, "The only way to end the war in Vietnam is to bring our troops home."

Kennedy followed McGovern to the podium at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner by the New Democratic Coalition and spoke again of what he called the "cruelty and savagery of the past week."

"It would have been immoral," Kennedy said, to remain silent about what he called "an unjustified war, an immoral war."

Awarded Law Degree

GIDEON - Carl D. Gum Jr. was among 775 lawyers, graduates of the University of Missouri - Columbia School of Law, who were recently awarded a new degree in their alma mater.

In an informal ceremony in Jesse Auditorium during annual Law Day activities, Dr. A. G. Unklesbay, University vice-president for administration, conferred the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree upon those alumni who requested the new diploma to replace the LL. B. diploma they had received upon graduation.

Laird's position and that of the generals is essentially that a cutback in U.S. "spoiling operations" would invite heavier casualties by relinquishing to the enemy the initiative of when, where and how to strike at passive U.S. positions.

A Pentagon statement contended that small-unit patrolling and reconnaissance, and battalion-size operations which result, "are not, in fact, offensive operations but are an active defense aimed at delaying or altering enemy plans."

It is the Nixon administration's position that, as the Pentagon put it, "casualties have been a product of enemy offensive actions rather than of U.S. or South Vietnamese armed forces actions."

Laird declined to discuss the Dong Ap Bia operation in particular. "We shouldn't try to second guess our commanders after an action has taken place," he said.

The defense secretary said U.S. military commanders "are carrying out to the best of their ability orders prescribed by President Nixon and President Johnson" governing conduct of the war on the ground in Vietnam.

He agreed that the ground operation rules now in effect are the same as those which prevailed under Lyndon B. Johnson's administration.

Pesticides for Food Production Use Outlawed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has outlawed 10 pesticide chemicals for all use in food production and has tightened limitations on 56 others because of residue on food products.

The department's action involves withdrawal of federal registration, required when such chemicals are sold in interstate commerce.

Dr. Harry W. Hays, director of pesticide regulation, said the cancellations affect companies which received one-year extensions in 1968 but did not submit new information or progress reports.

A department spokesman said the 10 pesticide chemicals for which federal registration is cancelled included: Anthracene oil, citronella, EMMI, nabam, phenylmercury monoethauol, ammonium acetate, phenylmercury nitrate, phenylmercury urea, potassium cresylate, 8-quinolinol benzoate, and sodium cresylate.

Recipient of Obscene Mail May Require Name Taken off List

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A three-judge federal court, upholding the 1968 obscenity law, says anyone can stop obscene matter from being mailed to them.

"To require a commercial enterprise to strike a name from a mailing list seems little burden to impose," declared U. S. Dist Court Judges Manuel Real and Martin H. Carr. A separate, concurring opinion was written by U. S. Circuit Court Judge Shirley M. Husstedler.

The special court ruled on a suit brought by Daniel Rowen of the Ameican Book Service and 14 other claiming the law violated rights of free speech and press.

ALL MEAT WIENERS

Fresh lean meat, old world spicing, and billowing hardwood smoke make KREY Wieners hot diggity dog good. Ask for the tender skinless kind or, if you so desire, select the Old Tyme Brand in natural casings for extra fine flavor.

INTERNATIONAL KABOBS: Cut 1-inch cubes of KREY Braunschweiger and wrap with a slice of water chestnut in strips of KREY Bacon or Gourmet Ham. Roast over grill on skewers while basting with a mixture of ½ cup soy sauce, ½ cup sugar, 2 tbs. hot prepared mustard and ½ tsp. ginger.

DUTCHMAN'S WIENERS: Split grilled KREY Wieners lengthwise, put a slice of pickle between halves, wrap in slices of grilled KREY Bologna and serve on heated hot dog buns.

PICNIC SPECIAL THURINGER: Spread slices of rye bread with finely chopped potato salad, add slices of KREY Thuringer, and top with rye bread spread with mustard.

KREY

COLD CUTS

KREY uses the finest old world formulas known to meat packing. You're bound to like KREY BRAUNSCHWEIGER, SALAMI, THURINGER, BOLOGNA and all the others. Have 'em sliced thick or thin, or cut 'em in small or large cubes. They're real cool for picnics and outdoor barbecues.

DUTCH DEVILLED EGGS: Cut 1 dozen hard boiled eggs in half and stuff with a mixture of the egg yolks mashed with ¼ lb. KREY Braunschweiger, 3 tbs. softened butter, 1 tsp. poultry seasoning and a dash of cayenne.

BARBECUED BOLOGNA: Thread 1-inch cubes of KREY Bologna on skewers and heat over grill, basting with a mixture of 1 cup ketchup, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1½ tbs. Worcestershire, 1½ tsp. mustard and 1 tsp. onion salt.

MUSHROOM BRAUNSCHWEIGER BALLS: Stuff large mushroom caps with softened KREY Braunschweiger, put two together, alternate with small onions and heat on skewers.

KREY

BALL GAME HOT DOGS

These superior Gourmet-type wieners are all meat. Selected spices in the Ball Game formula impart championship flavor and make a hit every time. Whether you grill them or heat them in water, they really score big.

HAM 'N' CHEESE NAPOLEONS: Soften snappy cheese spread by bringing to room temperature, spread on slices of KREY Gourmet Ham and stack up four deep. Cut in 1-inch strips and cool in refrigerator until serving.

FRANKFURTERS HAWAIIAN: Cut KREY Gourmet Franks in 1½-inch chunks and alternate on skewers with chunks of pineapple, quarters of tomatoes and small onions. Broil over griddle basting with mixture of brown sugar, vinegar, orange juice and mustard.

BOSTON HARBOR PUPPIES: Spread ½ heated hot dog bun with thick layer mashed baked beans, add grilled KREY Wieners and top with other half bun spread with ketchup.

KREY

GOURMET FRANKS

KREY jumbo frankfurters are ALL MEAT and, because they run four to a pound and have natural casings, they retain their juices. Blended of the tenderest meats with fine spices and deep smoke flavoring they make any barbecue frankly festive.

WIENERS MEXICAINE: Spread heated hot dog buns with mustard, add grilled KREY Wieners. Top with sauce made from ½ lb. ground browned beef, 1 small chopped onion, ½ cup tomato sauce, 1 tbs. chili powder and salt to taste.

FARMER'S BRAUNSCHWEIGER: Spread one slice of rye bread with KREY Braunschweiger, add sliced hard cooked eggs and top with rye slice spread with mayonnaise.

BRAUNSCHWEIGER SURPRISES: Around large stuffed olives, mold ½-inch thickness of softened KREY Braunschweiger, wrap in 1½-inch strips KREY Bacon or Gourmet Ham and heat over grill on skewers.

Demos Still Plagued By Internal Strife

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic party is still plagued by the strains and tensions that tore it apart last year and contributed heavily to its loss of the presidency.

Resistance from within and serious financial problems are hampering national and state efforts to remedy structural defects.

In a scattering of special and municipal elections this year, Democrats have compiled a mixed record.

They held a Tennessee congressional seat and picked one up in a longtime Republican district in Wisconsin. A Democrat won the nonpartisan mayor's election in Omaha, Neb., and another holds a lead in polls for mayor of Los Angeles.

But internal splits contributed heavily to the party's loss of the Minneapolis mayorality and are threatening its chance to oust Republican Mayor John Lindsay of New York.

Party leaders are optimistic about holding governorships in New Jersey and Virginia, the only two being contested this year.

But on the national level, leadership is fragmented.

Hubert H. Humphrey, the nominal leader, is pointing himself towards a Senate race in 1970 and will regain a national forum shortly as chairman of the new Democratic Policy Council.

Lyndon B. Johnson, the most powerful single Democrat just months ago, has withdrawn from party affairs.

The Democratic congressional leadership, House Speaker John W. McCormack, 77, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, 66, have exhibited little initiative to date, although Mansfield has moved to convert the Democratic Policy Committee of the Senate into a group that will issue party policy positions.

A trio of senators, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, maneuver warily towards the far-off 1972 Presidential election with polls showing the 37-year-old Kennedy a heavy favorite of rank-and-file Democrats.

But some party leaders were jolted by a Gallup Poll last week showing Kennedy trailing President Nixon 33 per cent to 52 per cent if an election were held then. It was a shift of some 10 points to the Republicans since last November's election.

Supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy expect the Minnesota Democrat to make another bid for the presidency in 1972.

But he has stayed aloof from most political activities and is sticking so far to his announced decision not to seek his party's nomination for another Senate term in 1970.

The party's national chairman, Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, has given party headquarters its first thorough shakeup since 1960.

Installed as a Humphrey man, Harris, 38, is building his own political strength through control of the national machinery. He hopes to name the policy council within a few days.

The leading Democratic national figures are in general agreement on issues such as the antiballistic missile system and the need for more emphasis on domestic priorities. But McGovern and Kennedy have been more outspoken in criticizing the Nixon administration on Vietnam.

The national committee is making active plans for 1970 and has been helping Democratic candidates in the congressional races and the Los Angeles mayoral contest where all top party leaders are supporting Negro Tom Bradley in his race against Mayor Samuel F. Yorty, a nominal Democrat.

But the party is still crippled by the deficit of close to $6 million it inherited from Humphrey's 1968 campaign. A $1,000-a-plate dinner the Democratic Sponsors Club of New York plans for June 12 is the first major effort to whittle the deficit, and a drive is under way to build a roster of paying participating party members.

Democrats hope to maintain control of Congress next year and to make inroads on the 30-20 Republican majority in governorships. But they face an uphill fight in the Senate where they have a 57-43 majority but must defend 25 seats while seeking to capture only nine held by Republicans.

On the House side, where Democrats have a 244-190 majority now, party leaders have moved to revitalize their campaign committee.

The New Democratic Coalition, a loose grouping of the party's McCarthy-Kennedy-McGovern elements, held its fundraising dinner, a $100-a-plate affair, last Saturday. But the NDC too has its internal strains, which reflect those of the party at large.

Kennedy agreed to address the dinner, his first political speech in Washington this year, only after he reportedly made sure McCarthy wasn't coming.

While Kennedy, McGovern and Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa addressed the gathering, McCarthy declined an invitation and Muskie wasn't even intired. The reformers consider him an organization man.

More than 30 states have NDC units, and many are active in local contests.

Dear Sir:

Patriots feel they have won a victory in keeping Fortas from becoming the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. The victory you intend to win is a more pleasant subject than one that you have lost. They should not be satisfied with this single victory and cease to crusade. There is a turn to the Right and patriots should make the most of it and keep it going by keeping on trying. They did not overcome much great opposition except they opposed the President of the United States, who appointed Fortas. They should never forget the present Supreme Court is referred to as the "Warren Court." The United States Constituion empowers Congress to preclude the U. S. Supreme Court from accepting appeals from lower courts of those convicted of certain crimes; and every voter has 3 member to represent him in Congress. Members of Congress read with great interest "Letters to the Editor" which are available to their constituents.

Ersatz Meats Rate High in Food Value

CHICAGO (AP) — It may look like ham, it may taste like ham but it may in fact be soybeans. Nutritionally, it may be better than ham.

The ersatz ham, along with chicken and corn beef made of protein derived primarily from soybeans, was shown for sampling at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists.

Pork and bacon substitutes alos are made of soybeans, and lamb is being developed.

William J. Downey, a vice president of Fritzsche Brothers, Inc., New York, which displayed the meat substitutes, called them "the food of tomorrow."

Since the products are tailor made, he said in an interview, they can excel the edibles they simulate in terms of nutrition.

But products cannot be sold to the public on the basis of their nutritional value alone, so it is necessary to make the substitutes look and taste like something else, Downey explained.

Robert J. Eiserle, another vice president of Fritzsche, said the substitute products would be in food stores in five to 10 years.

The price will go down with mass production so the poor can afford them, he said.

Dr. R. F. Robinson, technical director of Worthington Food, Worthington, Ohio, said hamburger meat is only 60 per cent protein, but the soybean substitute is 90 per cent protein.

He said the protein meat substitutes have less fat than the real thing and retain their texture better during cooking.

"SOFT" WATER SAVES YOU MONEY

Hard water is more than a constant irritation to the busy homemaker. It's also hard on the pocketbook. According to the Water Conditioning Foundation, you need more soap and hot water, clothes and linens wear out faster, and scaly deposits shorten the life of pipe and water-using equipment. Estimates on the savings that result when water softening equipment is used range from $150 to over $300.

Gideon Boy Wins $200 Scholarship

GIDEON — Paul Wayne White, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee White, Rural Route 2, Gideon, is the winner of the MFA College Scholarship awarded to a member of this year's graduating class of Gideon High School.

The announcement was made at the commencement exercises held at the high school Friday (May 23) night.

White plans to attend the Arkansas State University and will study Art.

While attending high school he was vice-president of the National Honor Society, editor of the yearbook, member of the Student Council, pep club, and band. He is also a member of the Baptist Church.

The $200 scholarship is presented by the MFA Foundation and Gideon MFA Exchange. It is one of 128 similar scholarships being presented to high school graduates this year by the Missouri Farmers association and affiliated agencies.

Five Law Schools Accept Wallace

CHARLESTON — Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace have received word that their daughter Pat, who will be graduated from the University of Missouri on June 3, has been accepted by at least five law schools. Pat and her parents are currently debating the relative merits of Vanderbilt University, Southern Methodist, the University of Tennessee, the University of Illinois and Missouri University schools of law.

Bloomfield Girl Scouts Get Awards

BLOOMFIELD — Cadettes from Girl scout Troop 51 of Bloomfield received First Class Awards at an impressive ceremony recently at Cape Girardeau.

130 ninth grade Cadette Girl Scouts were recipients of this high honor at the Cotton Boll and Otahki Girl Scouts First Class Award ceremony.

Troop 51 with their sponsor, Mrs. Billy Almond were honored guests at a luncheon at the Colonial Inn before the ceremony and were guests at a reception in Memorial Hall on the campus of Southeast Missouri State College. Hosts of the reception were, Dr. and Mrs. Mark Scully.

The program opened with an organ prelude by Dr. Dan Cotner followed by the processional of First Class Scouts and Escorts. The flag ceremony was performed by Cadette Troop 150 of Cape Girardeau.

Debbie Collins, Senior Troop 159 of Sikeston gave the invocation. Opening remarks were given by Executive Director, Mary Spitzmiller of the Otahki Council followed by greetings from the host council extended by Mrs. Dan Cotner, Otahki president. The guests were welcomed by Dr. Mark Scully, president of Southeast Missouri State College.

Mrs. Jean Bell Mosley was the guest speaker. Mrs. Thurston Hill, president of the Cotton Boll Council conducted the ceremony for the awards presentation. The Girl Scout Promose was given by Debbie Collins to close the program.

Donna Almond, Glenda Ayers, Donna Hopkins, Melody Lankford, Darlene McRoy, Susan Myrick, Lou Ann Nelson, Carol Shipman and Connie Shipman received the award.

Other Stoddard County Scouts who were honored with the award were as follows: Troop 128, Essex, Debora Pope, Mary Schuerenberg and Ginger Wilson. Their leader is Ms. Paul Schuerenberg.

Troop 46, Dexter, Carolee Asberry, Janie Averett, Jeanie Averett, Becky Bailiff, Lin Brinley, Cindy Coffey, Susan Cowan, Diane Edwards, Sherry Frields, Pam Gaines, Pam Hodder, Willa Kimbrel, Susan Mayer, Glen Ellen Medler, Paula Medler, Gail Robinett, Sharon Russell, Laurie Webb and Lucille Wooldridge, Leader, Mrs. J. W. Bailiff.

LIVE LEADS BY THE HUNDREDS
We're a big time company, ($70,000,000) in sales, but we have a small town philosophy. (Maybe that's how we got to be big.) We don't promise the moon. If you have the ability and you're willing to work hard, you'll make a good buck with us. Not a fortune, although some of our men do realize as much as $30,000. However, most of our beginning men are in the $11, $15,000 category! But one of the good things about Famous Schools in that almost every salesman increases his income year after year after year.

Many of our sales force have been with us fifteen years. They tell us they have found a "home" and we're tickled they did. Maybe Famous schools is the spot for you, if you're really looking for a lifetime career opportunity.

As part of Famous Schools youthful sales team you will be supplied with qualified leads from our national advertising. You've seen our ads in Life, Look, Reader's Digest and on TV.

Famous Artists. Famous Writers, and famous Photographers, Schools . . . the Famous Schools, Westport, Connecticut offers America's most distinguished faculty including: Norman Rockwell, Jon Whitcomb, Rod Sterling, Bennet Cerf, Faith Baldwin, Richard Avedon, Bert Stern, Irving Penn.
The ideal man is over 21 years of age, owns a good servicable car, is bondable and can do some traveling.

In addition to high commissions you receive full company benefits including major medical policy and company paid insurance. Sound interesting? We think it should. If you want an income, security and time to speed with your family.

IN MEMORY OF HM/1
JAMES D. KINDER, USN
Always a smile, never a frown,
Always a hand when someone was down;
Happiness you gave to everyone you knew,
No better things could anyone do,
Your presence brought joy to everyone's heart,
Laughter and cheerfulness right from the start.
God gave us a gift, then took it away.
But your beautiful memory is here to stay.
The blow was hard, the shock severe.
We little thought your death so near,
Any only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

CANTON -- A unique undergraduate fellowship in its initial four years will be continued at Culver-Stockton College, Dr. Fred Helsaback, announced.

The honor service fellowship program, which may be the only one of it kind on undergraduate level, was made possible by a $45,000 grant from Moorman Foundation, Quincy, Ill.

Initiated in the fall of 1965, it provides financial help to outstanding students who can aid in the academic program by working 51 hours a week. The may serve as teaching assistants, substitute teachers, research assistants, tutors, musical accompanists, or intramural directors.

The program was started with a $32,000 grant, and $8,500 by the college. In next five years recipients will receive $2,500 each.

Homes on North Ranney Purchased

50 years ago
May 26, 1919

Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Mayes have acquired the service of Miss Hazel Wilson to help in the sttudio.

Mrs. Eli Ables recently purchased two houses on North Ranney avenue from Rev. Crowe, formerly of Sikeston, who now resides in the country near here.

Paul Handy Moore of Charleston was in this city Tuesday and bought a Jordon silhouette.

The Sikeston Natatorium was opened last week to the public and many bathers enjoyed plunges on the sunshiny days.

40 years ago
May 26, 1929

Mrs. N.C. Watkins and children, who have been visiting at the editor's house for the past two weeks, left for Magnolia, Ark., Sunday morning. Craven met them at Little Rock and drove them on home.

R.C. "Bud" Couey resigned his position as day clerk at the Del Rey Hotel last Saturday. His successor has not been named.

W.A. "Bill" Stevens, formerly of the local Western Union office, but lately of Caruthersville, has been moved to Monett, where he will be chief operator during the strawberry season. He may be stationed here later.

A rain of cloud-burst proportions, registering 2.7 inches in the guage of John L. Tanner, fell in this city Saturday and flooded homes in Frisco Addition and in the northeast party of town and caused temporary diversion of traffic through North Kingshighway.

30 years ago
May 26, 1939

Mrs. C.M. Harvey of El Paso, Tex., who as Miss Maude Irene Phillips, was principal of the Sikeston High School a number of years ago, has been nominated as "El Paso's Best Mother for 1939." Mrs. Harvey is the wife of a leading El Paso banker.

Lightning during the severe electrical storm Wednesday afternoon struck and set fire to a large barn on the Ellis Alcorn farm, three and a half miles west of Sikeston on Highway 60.

Roy V. Ellise will deliver the commencement address at Braggadocio this Thursday night. It is his sixth address to graduates this year.

Morehouse--Mrs. Lee Saville of St. Louis visited her sister, Mrs. Ada Parrish, here several days. She returned home Wednesday.

The following boys will represent Sikeston at the annual Boy's State to be held this year at Kemper Military School at Boonville June 18 through the 25th: Darrol Pharris, Paul David Holden, Harold Coleman, Dick Bloomfield, Charles Noyes, Harold Shy, Tommy Hahs, Dick Keller and Hafford Walters.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Halford of Benton are parents of a daughter born today at Southeast Missouri Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goldstein of Los Angeles, Calif., are parents of a son born today. Mr. Goldstein is the son of Mrs. Mollie Goldstein and the brother of Mrs. William Marian, both of this city.

The piano pupils of Mrs. O.T. Elder will be presented in a recital Monday, May 30 at the Tanner Street Church of God. The following will participate: Evelyn, Margaret and Frances Potashnick, Jerrilyn DeKriek, Penney Wilson, Sandra Higgins, Ronnie Alcorn, Peggy Alcorn, Patricia Alcorn, Ann Elizabeth Sisson, John Thomas Reuber, Joe Bill Sisson, Jane Pitman, Kathryn Kirby, Judy Alexander, Margaret Scott and Jo Ellen Standley.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

We have received . . the Spirit which is from God, that we might understand the gifts bestowed on us by God. And we impart this in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the Spirit. (I Corinthians 2:12-13, RSV)

PRAYER: O Holy Spirit, You are more willing to impart to us the things of God than we are to receive them. Keep our minds alert and our hearts sensitive to Your lessons and Your direction. Through Your help may we follow God's way and our lives glorify His name. Amen.

Sues Veterinarian For Cat Bite

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Peter took his cat Queenie to a veterinarian to have some wax removed from her ear. In preparation for the treatment, the veterinarian held Queenie's head, his assistant held her rear quarter and Peter, at the request of the vet, held her forelegs.

While it appeared that Queenie had to be a Houdini to free herself, she proved to be naturally resourceful. With a sudden squirt, she emptied her bladder full blast into the startled faces of the veterinarian held Queenie's head, his assistant causing them to relinquish their grip on her. Thus partially freed, Queenie completed her escape by biting Peter on the hand and taking off through an open window as though she was headed for China.

When Peter's hand subsequently became infected, he sued the veterinarian for his injury.

"Not only was he careless in losing his grip on Queenie," complained Peter in court, "but he was careless in asking me to hold her legs in the first place. After all, I'm no animal trainer."

"But it was his cat," was the veterinarian's answer. "Under the circumstances, it was perfectly reasonable for me to ask him to hold her. I felt that in his hands, she wouldn't feel afraid in our clutches."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the vet liable for the catastrophe to Peter's hand?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that, under the circumstances, it was not negligent for either the veterinarian or his assistant to have relaxed their grip on Queenie; nor was it negligent to have asked Peter to hold his cat. The incident, concluded the judge, was one that could not necessarily have been prevented.

(Based upon a 1963 Mass. Supreme Judicial Court Decision)

Mr. Charles Blanton, Sr.
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo.

Dear Mr. Blanton:

The lines from the poem
"I shot an arrow into the air
It fell to earth -I knew not where."
came to mind when I received the enclosed clipping from our daughter, Bonnie Nelson, who is now living in Greenbelt, Maryland. It was sent to her by her parents - in - law, the Hilding C. Nelsons, who live in Mount Vernon, Washington. They had clipped it from the Pullman (Wash.) Herald.

I have enjoyed reading the editorials from other papers in THE STANDARD and thought perhaps you would be interested in knowing that your editorials are being read from coast to coast.

Very truly yours,
Glenda W. Conrad

OTHER EDITORS SAY

It's Called Living by the Numbers

(From The Sikeston (Mo.) Daily Standard)

IN WALLA WALLA, Washington, fifteen female inmates at the Wasington State Prison have been key-punching all the State's laws. To date they have punched out a million cards for the State's computer, and very shortly they'll start on the decisions of the attorney general - another million cards.

The female convicts draw 10 cents an hour for their work in the beginning, then rise to 15 cents an hour when they become expert. Proficiency earns a premium.

Said one of the skilled keypunchers. "Times really have changed. Ten years ago, nobody outside the walls knew what we were doing. Nobody cared. Now we don't even have to be embarrassed about having a number. I mean, everybody has a number. I mean, everybody has a number in the computer age - even the governor."

And so he does

One man with a number happens to be a prominent newspaperman and author. He is a word craftsman without peer. His number came up on one of those giant computers installed by a nationwide oil company, and he received in the mail a deftly computerized threat to have him in court, forthwith, if he failed to pay his overdue balance by return post.

Now it happened that the wordsman didn't owe even a penny to the oil company. His letter to the computer was gentlemanly mule-skinner, and probably the most eloquent two paragraphs he has composed in a distinguished career. It is a fixture on bulletin boards in the computer department of companies the length and breadth of the land. The computer had erred, and tagged him with the delinquency of a poor soul with the same name - in a different section of the country.

Not long ago the bookkeeper for a well - established firm was hospitalized. The management wanted to keep the job open, and willing co-workers joined the boss in keeping things signed her name to one request for clarification of a disputed invoice.

The next month she received a demand for payment of an overdue bill of less than twenty dollars and a threat of permanent blight on her. credit if she failed to present her check by return mail. It was, of course, the company's bill, which had been paid in the interim.

But the secret is still receiving threats, demands, and notice that her credit is kaput in every credit and collection service in the nation. We all have a number. Wait until you have to write a letter to a computer!

Dear Mr. Blanton
In regards to your front page article date May 21st, Mr. Miller complained that he felt the news medica had made the matter worse, the situation when you reported that Chief Ramsey was having to resign because he wasn't receiving a living wage.

Well I can't see how any one could make the matter worse any more than Mr. Miller has by hiring two men that have had no fire fighting experience.

And how could it get any worse when the three councilman, Noles, Harbin and Ziegenhorn made the comment they did, about they wouldn't try to keep Miller from letting them go.

I say Chief Ramsey and his assistant needed that raise they asked for because they have earned it. Also I think it shows sorry management and sorry counceling.

'I've Got Mine, Jack'

Now that the Justice Fortas affair is over, Congress not only should require members of the judiciary to bare their full financial holdings; members of Congress should bare theirs as well.

It is absurd that a Senator can hide his full financial record in a white envelope that can only be opened upon petition, while an Executive Branch appointee must present his holdings as being lily - white and free from stain.

How foolish it is to permit those who sit in judgment to be free from any need to present their finances to the public eye, while those they judge must completely bare their souls. A couple of not unique examples: It is quite proper for a Senator Eastland to accept money from the public farm allotment program - some $200,000 last year - even though he is a member of the committee charged with overseeing such things; but a Supreme Court Justice is wrong for accepting a $20,000 fee as a consultant on race and religious questions from a private foundation.

And it is quite proper for a Senator Long of Louisiana, the self-styled "darlin" of the oil interests who has made his fortune in oil, to oversee oil interests in the Senate; but, it is wrong for a Supreme Court Justice to accept payment for lectures give at a private university.

It is just this type of hypocrisy that is eating at the American soul today. And is this type of hypocrisy tht that provides justification for those Americans who hold a philosophy which says, "I've got mine, Jack..."

BLYTHEVILLE AIR FORCE BASE, Ark., -- The United States Air Force's largest bomber, the B-52 Stratofortress, will no longer be heard soaring low in the skies over Blytheville Air Force Base after April of 1970. Blytheville, the home of the 97th Bombardment Wing, is slated to become a Tactical Air Command base in April 1970.

The 64th Tactical Airlift Wing, equipped with C-130E aircraft, will be relocated at Blytheville from Sewart Air Force Base, Tennessee. The 64th TAW is a Tactical Air Command unit.

The 97th Bomb Wing will be inactivated in April of 1970, with personnel and equipment being transferred to other Strategic Air Command units. The 97th Air Refueling Squadron will move from Blytheville at approximately the same time.

Authorized manpower at Blytheville will remain unchanged at approximately the same level after the mission change.

Blytheville was activated June 10, 1942, as an advanced flying school in the Southeastern Training Command's pilot training program. It continued its role as a training center for World War II pilots until the end of the war.

After the war the base was utilized almost exclusively as a processing center for personnel being discharged. It was inactivated in October 1954, after three years and five months of service. After deactivation it was placed under administrative control of the Air Material Command.

TAC assumed control of the base on reactivation July 15, 1955. Blytheville became fully operational April 7, 1956, with a TAC Wing composed of three squadrons of B-57 medium bombers.

TAC's 461st Bombardment Wing was inactivated on April 1, 1958. At that time the 4229th Air Base Squadron was established in SAC's Second Air Force for the purpose of assuming control of Blytheville.

The 4229th remained the occupying organization at the base until July 1, 1959, when the 97th Combat Support Group, the present unit at Blytheville, took charge of base activities.

The 97th Bomb Wing is commanded at present by Colonel Eugene D. Minietta.

GARAGE SALES

This immensly popular way of converting unused household items to cold cash in the larger Metropolitan areas is catching on in Sikeston. Watch The Daily Standard for this great way of picking up the items you want

If your tired of stumbling over unused furniture, appliances clothing, etc. why not consider having a garage sale? With inflation pushing prices up almost daily, more and more people are looking for good used merchandise. If you don't believe your used merchandise is valuable, try pricing them at a second hand Store. Because of the interest in collecting old items, even your old magazines,newspapers, comic books, etc may be valuable.

Plan now to have a garage sale. Neighbors might want to get together and have a group sale. Clubs - Womens, Civic, Service-find this an excellent way of raising funds.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, May 26, the 146th day of 1969. There are 219 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1868, U. S. senators seeking removal of President Andrew Johnson lost their case. The impeachment forces lost by one vote.

On this date:

In 1790, Tennessee was organized as a territory.

In 1805, Napoleon Bonaparte was crowned king of Italy.

In 1864, the U. S. Congress created the Montana Territory.

In 1942, during the World War II, German forces began their drives for Stalingrad and the Caucasus.

In 1954, the funeral ship of the Egyptian Pharaoh Cheops was discovered in a limestone chamber near the Great Pyramid of Giza in Ebypt.

In 1966, Britain granted independence to the South American country of Guyana.

Ten years ago: Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir said her nation was astounded that the United Nations had failed to enforce free navigation through the Suez Canal.

Five years ago: The United Arab Republic and Iraq signed a pact they said was thefirst step toward full Arab unity.

Oneyearago: The United States charged at preliminary peace talks in paris that North Vietnamese troops had crossed the demilitarized zone to carry out an attack.

Six Injured In Two Highway Accidents

Six persons were injured two in area highway accidents over Saturday and Sunday, as result of excessive speed, four in a two car accident north of Fruitland, and two on the Rodeo road, northeast of Sikeston.

In an accident Sunday at 2:50 a.m. on the Rodeo blacktop road, northeast of Sikeston, a 1966 Mercury, driven by Ricky Lee Holyfield, 19, route two, Sikeston, the car came around a curve at a high speed, left the road and struck a telephone pole.

Holyfield received cuts on his knee, while a passenger, Anthony Chappagne, 30, Oak Park, Ill., had severe cuts on his face.

Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Four teenagers were injured, when an 1967 Ford, driven by James Donald Owen, 17, Cape Girardeau, traveling at high speed, slid in the wrong lane and struck a 1964 Ford, driven by Sharon Ruth Mayfield, 18, Jackson.

Owen received scratches and bruises, and a passenger; Bob Ray, 16, Cape Girardeau, received a broken right leg, bruised knee and arm.

Both were taken to Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Miss Mayfield, driver of the second car, had cuts and bruises of the face, and a passenger, Keith Mayfield, 9, had cuts and bruises on the body. Both were treated by a Jackson physician.

The patrol said the Owen car was traveling at a high speed when he approached another car, who was making a right turn. He applied his brakes, but his car went into the wrong lane and struck the Mayfield car.

Delmo Corp. Awards Aid 37 Southeast Students

LILBOURN — High school scholarship awards have been granted to thirty-seven students attending schools in Southeast Missouri May 17, 1969, at the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Delmo Housing Corporation, Lilbourn, Missouri. These scholarships were made possible through donations received from throughout the United States.

The cost for one scholarship per a nine month school year is $67.50 or $7.50 per month. All scholarship contributions are sent to the Delmo Office and then each month checks are mailed to school principals to be given to the selected students. All contributions made to the scholarship programs are tax deductible for federal and state income tax purposes.

The scholarship program is designed to serve as an incentive for students to complete high school. Often a scholarship can benefit a student as such that he can remain in school rather than dropping out due to a family financial strain. The Scholarship award is to be used to pay for school lunches, book fees, class activity fees, and etc.

Student aid is designed to produce community leadership as well as adding to earning power. It had long been felt that inadequate means and the pressing need for young people to begin contribution to the family income as soon as possible had deprived many boys and girls with naturally high intelligence of the opportunity to cultivate their abilities to the full. All those receiving aid for their schooling have been certified by their teachers for learning ability, character, preservance, personality and a cooperative spirit.

Approximately $2500 yearly is involved in these scholarship, which are counted as a sound investment in the future.

The following students are included as recipients for a 1969-70 school year scholarship award.

Lilbourn: Para Lee Wiley, Alvin McFerren, Shelia Edwards, Brenda Treadwell, Jerome Wilderness, Sherman Jennings, Jane Wilson, Deborah Tannehill, Donna Tannehill and Carolyn Allred.

Wyatt- Beulahre Robinson, Beverly Weems, Beverly McCleary, Bobby Weems, Carolyn Rogers and Floyd Neal.

Hayti, Missouri - Sally Garner, Jimmy Gorman and James Bunch.

Circle City - Wayne Kerley and Larry Case.

Howardville - Ronald Treadwell, Charles Gibbs, and Myrtle Washington.

East Prairie - Fredia Busby.

Morehouse - Danny Sutton.

Wardell- Valorie Holland, Mary Hudson, Marshall Luster, Sammuel Augustus, Willard Griggs, Johnny McGaughy and Roby Tolbert.

IT WILL BE SOMETIME YET before the concession stand at the Sikeston Country Club swimming pool will open -- and its not because of the weather, although Mother Nature has had a big hand in the matter. Pictured here is a Robin's nest atop the stand's cash register. There are three baby birds in the nest, but they were napping at the time the photographer was around. Management at the country club has vowed not to disturb the nest until Mother Nature takes her full course and the birds fly away. (Photo by Dan D. Whittle)

Dexter Vote Set For June 10

DEXTER — The Dexter City Council has set June 10 for a special election to determine whether the Dexter police chief shall become an appointive post and possible "re-annexation of a portion of the McCormack sub-division, southeast of Dexter.

The sub-division annexation, costs of which are being paid for by the division's owners -- was approved by voters previously but, after having allegedly been "held incorrectly." Some 10.2 acres are included in the subdivision.

Presently, a city marshal is elected by city voters, with the city government having little direct control over him.

The proposal to be voted on calls for a police chief to be appointed on a regular basis by the Mayor and Council. The chief would have to answer to the city's governing body. The measure was voted down once before.

The former city marshal Howard Davis, and acting marshal Clay Baker, have both expressed their opinion that the appointive system is the best plan.

The othermatter to be decided by Dexter voters ia a "re- annexation" of a portion of the McCormack sub-division, south-east of Dexter. The annexation was voted on before, but done incorrectly. The new vote will annex 10.2 acres of land to the city. The cost of the new election is being borne by the division's owners.

In other matters the council heard a proposal from the Youth Committee for Community Bettermen, a newly formed youth organization. The Committee is currently trying to secure tennis courts for Dexter, and trying to have the city and school combine their efforts, and money.

Currently, the school is planning and the city park board is planning one court on city property. The Youth Committee is trying to get the city and school to combine their plans and build three "superior courts" for Dexter.

The Committee presented a petition to the Council signed by ten members of their organization. Randy Montgomery, junior co-chairman of the Committee, was spokesman and pointed out that the combined effort could "save both groups money and still provide superior tennis facilities for the people of Dexter."

A "land swap" was approved by the city council involving four feet of property owned by the Dexter Statesman and an alley behind the Statesman building on West Stoddard. In order to keep the alley in line with present position, the city and the Statesman swapped four feet on land along the alley. No change will result in the alley's position. All costs of the transfer will be bore by the Statesman.

Mayer Willis Conner presented a list of 28 retail outlets in Dexter that have not paid their retail merchants license, and pointed out that efforts were underway to collect them.

First Ward Alderman Eldon Cooper reported to the Council that he had received complaints that horseback riders were riding through the city's parks, disturbing those visiting the picnic or recreation areas. The police were alerted to watch for such violations.

The Council adjourned after discussing the problems several drive-in operators in Dexter are experiencing -- namely that cars are being left in the parking lot while their drivers leave in yet another auto. The city attorney, Paul McGhee, is checking into the problem, to see what the city's course will be.

The next Council meeting will be June 3.

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (AP) — Climaxing a voyage of discovery, the Apollo 10 moon explorers came safely home from the heavens Monday, blazing back through earth's atmosphere to a bull's eye landing in the South Pacific within sight of the recovery ship Princeton.

America's newest space heroes ended man's greatest and most dangerous space adventure when their sturdy sixton spaceship parachuted into gently rolling seas about three miles from the Princeton.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan landed at 12:52 p.m., EDT. The touchdown was about 400 miles east of Pago Pago, just at dawn in this part of the world.

As the craft descended, its tracking lights blinked in the semidarkness.

The pinpoint landing was a fitting climax to the near-flawless eight-day flight, a final dress rehersal which cleared the way for two astronauts to walk on the moon in less than two months.

"We are in great shape," Stafford radioed.

"We should be right on top of you if you're down there," Stafford radioed minutes before landing.

"I tell you this thing is beautiful," Young exulted.

Television pictures, relayed through a communications satellite, enabled millions of Americans to share the triumphal return of the three astronauts.

Viewers had a ringside seat as cameras focused on Apollo 10 floating down from space, dangling under three orange and white parachutes.

Hundreds of sailors wearing dress white lined the deck of the Princeton and cheered as they watched the stirring sight.

Helicopters spotted the astronauts several minutes before the splashdown and were hovering overhead within minutes.

Within minutes, Navy frogmen leaped from a helicopter. They attached a flotation collar and plugged in a telephone to talk with the astronauts.

Stafford, Young and Cernan traveled 76 hours outward to the moon, circled it 31 times in 61½ hours and raced home along a 54-hour corridor. The flight lasted 8 days 3 minutes.

They logged about 700,000 miles and Stafford and Cernan made man's closest approach to another celestial body, riding a lunar landing vehicle to within 9.4 miles of the moon to scout a landing site for Apollo 11 in July. They rehearsed all phases of a landing mission except the actual touchdown.

Five hours before homecoming, they beamed a final telecast, showing the fast-approaching earth in brilliant color and transmitting their thoughts on their magnificent Odyssey. Stafford summed up the feelings this way:

"I think the future of manned space flight from now and many generations to come is going to uncover many, many other challenges and experiences that we are really incapable of even conceiving at this time."

To reach the Pacific, the astronauts survived man's fastest re-entry through the atmosphere.

Apollo 10 slammed into the outer limits of the atmosphere 400,000 feet high at 24,694 miles an hour, was punished by forces nearly seven times the pull of gravity and was blistered by heat of more than 5,000 degrees. The crew traveled 64 m.p.h. faster than the Apollo 8 pilots on their return from the moon in December.

The craft's heat shield protected the craft from burning up and the temperature inside the cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

Before hitting the atmosphere, Stafford, Young and Cernan jettisoned a service module attached to the command ship. The shedding of this equipment bay reduced Apollo 10's weight from 31,500 to about 12,000 pounds.

During the hottest, fastest part of re-entry, radio communications from the speeding vehicle were blacked out for about three minutes.

Right after blackout ended, two recovery force planes and the Princeton reported radar contact with the spaceship.

Minutes later, the ship, dangling under its parachutes, came within view of the ship.

The thickening atmosphere braked the speed, making it possible for three small parachutes to pop out and stabilize the spacecraft. Ships and planes quickly picked up the descending ship on radar.

At 10,000 feet, the three main 83.5-foot chutes blossomed majestically and Apollo 10 floated gently downward into the Pacific at a comparative snail's pace of 22 m.p.h.

Three hours before re-entry, the astronauts fired thrusters for 6.6 seconds to make a slight course adjustment that zeroed them in on the landing site

Just five hours and 43,000 miles from splashdown, Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan pointed their television camera out the window and transmitted a brilliant color picture of the earth looming larger by the minute.

Each of the astronauts came on camera with some thoughts about the mission during which they circled the moon 2½ days.

Young: "The whole mission has been unbelievable. . We've felt very strong about sharing the adventure, the challenges and rewards of these eight days with the world through television. . We hope we've made the millions of people of the world more a part of the history that's being made in our day and age."

Cernan: "I'm convinced after this mission that none of them are going to be easy. But nothing is impossible, and I think the future of manned spaceflight from now and many generations to come is going to uncover many, many other challenges and experiences that we are really incapable of even conceiving at this time."

Stafford: "Man has certainly progressed a long ways in just a few short years. And how much we're going to progress in the future is left to your imagination. But if we harness our energies and keep our perspectives right, the goals are unlimited.

See you back on the good earth."

Jet Hijacked With 20 Aboard

MIAMI (AP) — A Northeast Airlines jet with 20 persons aboard was hijacked to Cuba today, the 27th commercial aircraft diverted to the Caribbean island this year.

The Federal Aviation Agency at Miami said Northeast Flight No. 6 was east of Jacksonville, Fla., en route to New York when the pilot, Capt. Ted Connors, radioed he had been hijacked and was turning around.

"He didn't say who the hijacker was or whether he had a gun, knife or what," said Jim Frazier, area supervisor of the FAA office at Miami, where the flight originated.

Frazier said the Boeing 727 was due to arrive in Havana shortly after noon, EDT. He said a crew of six and 14 passengers were aboard.

Thieves Hit Portageville

PORTAGEVILLE — Thievery in the Bootheel continued during the latter part of last week with two breakins and an attempted illegal entry being reported from Portageville.

According to Chief of Police Joe Moore six portable television sets valued at $100 were taken from Trader Dick's Furniture store Saturday night, while a transistor radio and anti-freeze testing equipment was taken from the Deep Rock Service station, according to Manager Loyd Smith.

The Williams' Save-Way Service Station oil room was broken into but the burglars were unable to gain entry, through the ladies' rest room, to the main offices.

Dale Brown, owner of a service station, across from Trader Dicks, discovered that breakin Sunday morning.

Chief Moore said all three breakins appeared to be the work of amateurs.

Body May Be Fahrenkrog's

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) —A body tentatively identified as that of Richard N. Fahrenkrog, father of the only quadruplets in the St. Louis area and an apparent suicide victim, was removed from the Missouri River near St. Charles Sunday, the state highway patrol said.

The 38-year-old Fahrenkrog, father of 10 children including the 2-year-old quads, jumped to his death from a bridge spanning the river May 14. The body was found by the captain of a towboat, the patrol said.

The action is being sponsored in Eas Prairie by the East Prairie Chamber of Commerce, along with othe; civic groups, who plan what they term 'an intensive educational campaign between now and election day."

Twenty Dollars Stolen From Car Wash

Police today reported someone stole about $20 from a coin machine at Quicki Car Wash, 708 Taylor, early Sunday morning. The car wash is owned by John Felker.

Wallace Watson Jr., 23, 313 Sunset, reported to police early Sunday that someone shot him on a finger of the right hand as he was crossing Felker Street. Watson, who was not seriously injured, was shot about 1:18 a.m. He said he did not hear the gun shot. Police suspect he was wounded by a shotgun pellett.

Police last night and early today received three prowler reports from the southern part of the city on Gladys, Scott and Vernon Streets. No one was found.

School Bus Overturns

WARDELL -- A North Pemiscot county school bus, carrying about 20 children, overturned on a road in the north part of the county, while passing a farm tractor. The accident occurred shortly before 8 a.m. today.

None of the children were seriously injured and only a few of them were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti, for treatment.

Cairo Police Station Hit By Gun Fire

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) - The Cairo police station was raked by high caliber gun fire early today in another outbreak of racial disturbance.

Police officials said the stration underwent a 10 to 15 minute barrage of 75 to 100 rounds which shattered windows and pinned down Patrolman Larry Adams, who operates the police radio.

Fire Chief Lewis Edwards, who was in the station, suffered minor cuts from flying glass.

Most of the officers on duty were out on patrol when the shooting occurred. Authorities said the fire was not returned by police.

Additional state police were brought into Cairo following the outbreak.

Police said they had numerous reports of cars being shot at during the night. One officer said he was fired upon.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

MEMORIAL DAY LIVES ON, IN THE HEART

Memorial day, like other aspects of American life, has changed greatly in recent decades. The pace of modern living, the impact of mechanization and automation the pressure of population growth, all have had their effects.

The reason are too complex to be analyzed in a brief discussion. But the effects are clear. Articles on this page note the disappearance of the leisurely "Decoration" day observance with parade and speeches, that was common to towns and even cities a few decades back.

Other writers deplore the nation's growing sophistication coupled with a decline in the patriotic fervor which Memorial day once expressed. The far-off war in Vietnam has not stirred the unity at home which has supported American soldiers in other conflicts.

But the change in attitude toward Memorial day began long ago, and obviously for more general causes. Can it be that we have grown more blase in the face of death? It sometimes seems so, as we listen hour after hour and day after day to reports of deaths on the highways and in the streets, without effective counteraction. Have growing numbers inured us to the fate of individuals, as is the case in the crowded lands of the Orient? In many cities even a suitable place to be buried is not easy to find today. The problem is clear to anyone who has ridden into New York City from the Kennedy airport, through block after block of Calvary cemetery.

So our approach to Memorial day has changed with a changing America. We might be tempted to think that the day as a meaningful occasion is a thing of the past. But a visit to any cemetery today will prove the fallacy of that.

For now, as in the past, the graves have fresh wreaths and bouquets. Singly and in groups, visitors pay tribute to those they have loved, who still live in memory.

The ceremony and sometimes pomp of the past may be gone. But Memorial day lives in the family, and in the heart. And that is where it was always truly meaningful.

We wonder if those who advocating the retention of the 70 mile speed limit on Missouri's Interstate roads have ever driven on them.

If they kept their speed at the 70 miles per hour if they ever passed any other car unless it was stopped in the emergency lane.

If they kept account of the number of cars that passed them. There is no need to count the ones that pass as every car on the road passes them.

"Budget cuts may cripple state agencies" says a news story headline.

But we say not very much for they will continue to operate as in the past.

Knowing that the legislature will vote a deficiency appropration to cover all overspending just as they have in the past.

Maybe we need a new branch of state agency heads who will administer their jobs with some business ability.

LEST WE FORGET

On May 30th, we celebrate Memorial Day. This is the day set aside to pay tribute to the men and women who have for granted the liberty they did to preserve.

In gratitude to Abraham Lincoln, and to the men and women who preceded and those who followed him in death under the nation's flags, we invite you to read again these immortal words, first delivered at Gettysburg:

Four score and seven years ago our father brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that station might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate - we cannot consecrate - we cannot hallow - this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or to detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us - that from these honored dead we take increased devotion that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

If we were a member of the State Senate or house of Representatives we would not vote for any appropriation bill to cover the deficit created by any department in the state.

When the fiscal year appropriation is made for the fiscal year, the head of that department knows how much money his department will have and if he is competent to bid the department that he should be competent to run it on the money alloted.

If he could not run it on the money then we would remove him and try someone else.

What is the use of the Legislature making appropriations and then having them ignored. Why not just let the department heads go ahead where any alloted amount?

TAXPAYER FOOD STAMPS FED THE STRIKERS

Those who constructively question the federal government's attempts to solve all of man's ills are often confronted with a classic problem: they are frequently, and unfairly, cast in what has been labeled the "born aginner" mold.

It is not pleasant, for instance, to oppose a federal plan, no matter how ill-conceived, that helps put food in the stomachs of the families of workers who go on strike.

However, the recent strike against the Ford Motor Co., points up the reason why questions should be raised about certain programs and practices.

During October, 3,809 families of workers striking Ford in Detroit alone, representing 16,970 individuals, obtained food stamps with a purchasing power of $273,171 and these workers were able to obtain them through provisions of the Food Stamp Act of 1964. A second government office had to be set up to accommodate the increased demand for stamps.

Isn't the food stamp program designed to subsidize the food purchasing power of the poor? If so, should these stamps be used to pay for costs during a strike, especially when a substantial strike fund is available and strikers should be subject to economic risks as is management?

If food stamps are given other Food strikers in other parts of the country and to all strikers in other industries, literally millions of tax dollars can be spent each year to help prolong strikes by minimizing the effect of economic pressures which otherwise might shorten them.

After all, dual risks are supposed to be at the heart of our system of collective bargaining. Or are they?

These questions nag the man's conscience who pays the taxes.

While many of us sit around and gripe about the increasing costs of car insurance, let's take a look at recent statistics compiled by The Travelers Insurance which reports the 1968 traffic death toll reached 55,300. This was 3,000 more than killed in 1967. Injuries in 1968 rose to 4,400,000 from 4,200,000 in 1967.

While more than 40 per cent of driver-error-caused deaths of America's highways in 1968 were blamed on excessive speed, only 20 per cent of the injuries were attributed to this item. The second major cause of fatalities blamed on the actions of drivers was reckless driving. It figured in nearly 15 per cent of the deaths and more than 39 per cent of the injuries.

The conclusion, voiced many times before, is "speed kills".

Other major factors involving actions of drivers resulting in deaths and injuries include driving on the wrong side of the road, not having the right-of-way, and driving off the roadway.

In the ten year period from 1959 through 1968, young driver involvement in fatal accidents increased more than 20 per cent. Last year, precisely one-third of people at the wheel when accidental death occurred in car crashes were 25 years of younger. The implication of immaturity expressed by speed in inescapable, said The Travelers spokesman, "under-25 drivers amount to only one-fifth of the driver total but they are in the terrible middle of one-third of all fatal auto crashes."

And let's not overlook the part of old John Barleycorn in this American tragedy. A study by the U. S. Department of Transportation concludes that "the use of alcohol by drivers and pedestrians leads to some 25,000 deaths and a total of at least 800,000 crashes in the U. S. each year."

Somehow and someway, we must require safer driving from all ages involved -- and increasing restrictions on those who do not obey the traffic laws of the land. This carnage on our streets and highways cannot go on even though out highways are improved to meet all safety standards.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

A husband may cut down his own risk of death from heart attack by helping keep his wife alive. That grief, or a change of conduct resulting from it, is life threatening, was implied by a recent British medical survey of middle-aged widowers. It found that fatal coronaries among them were 67 per cent above the expecture figure for married men their age who had not lost their wives.

In Japan you no longer need to depend on your own muscle to get into commuter trains. They have become so crowded that the national railway system has hired 506 more men whose duty it is to shove passengers into the trains—literally.

Mother, if your child is a thumbsucker, you don't have to worry too much about it unless he continues the habit after the age of five. Then he could do damage to the alignment of his permanent teeth, which begin erupting when he is about six.

Quotable notables: "When a man points a finger at someone else, he should remember that four of his fingers are pointing at himself."—Attorney Louis Nizer.

The good old days: In 1934, Lyndon B. Johnson bought a wedding ring for Claudia Alta Taylor, later better known as Lady Bird, for $2.50.

Whoosh: Duke University engineers are working on small scale models of air-propelled vehicles which in the future may be developed to carry people and freight through tubes placed at ground or subsurface level.

High price: In bank robberies the cost of the pursuit as well as the loss of the loot can be expensive. The FBI figures it may cost up to $150,000 for it to solve a robbery of a bank in which federal funds are deposited.

In business, the process of the gingham do eating up the calico cat is speeding at an increasing rate. In the last two years alone more than 4,000 U.S. corporate mergers have been consummated.

Executive signs: This one is on the desk of Elmer Winter, president of Manpower, Inc.: "Some people are like blisters. They don't show up until the work is done."

Nothing to sneeze at: Pepper, one of the oldest spices known to man, historically was one of the most valuable articles of commerce. When Alaric the Gothic king conquered Rome, he demanded 3,000 pounds of pepper as part of his ransom price for the Eternal City.

Worth remembering: "Even though you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there."

Folklore: It will bring you bad luck if you pick up a dropped knife that is pointing toward you. Less than seven spots on a ladybug's wing covers indicates a good harvest. The numbers that are most likely to prove lucky in a lottery are those ending in 3, 7, 9 and 12. Eating too much meat will make you badtempered.

WHY NOT STRIP?

One of the mysteries of the Vietnam war has been the failure of the Administration to put our forces there on a "scrip" currency rather than continuing the dollar payroll.

One of the lessons of World War II was the realization that scrip tended to frustrate blackmarketeering and corruption. But after an unbroken seven years of dollar economy in Vietnam, both flourish and still the Administration has taken no official notice.

It is all but impossible for the citizen who has not lived in a country blighted by a long period of war to comprehend what eventually becomes commonplace. In Germany, at the end of World War II, with scrip still the GI currency, a cigarette economy developed. American-manufactured cigarettes were currency. One didn't leave a coin for the waiter or waitress in the hotel dining room. They were forbidden to receive or own scrip. And so one left a cigarette or two. The same for the porter at the railroad station. One bought merchandise in the stores with packages of cigarettes. There were high-level arguments over this frightening looting of the German economy with cigarettes, and finally the black market was broken by flooding the country with a few plane-loads of cigarettes flown in from the States. But not before a carton of American cigarettes came to be worth ten times its purchase price in the marketplace in German cities. Not even scrip is a complete answer to the problem, obviously but with intelligent reaction to inspired and conspired shortages, it is an effective control.

True, scrip didn't solve the passion of the Soviets in Berlin's Eastern Zone for American wrist watches. A $60 American wrist watch was worth at least ten times that amount to Soviet soldiers who would trade that much value in loot they had heisted from German homes. In Japan, believe it or not, the prize currency at one stage was flints for cigarette lighters. There just weren't any to be had, and a ten-cent package of ligher flints was worth as much as $20 in loot.

These are the kinds of things which have been going on in Vietnam for years. A half-million Amerians being paid in dollars has created a fantastic market in corruption Some GI's are getting rich. Some Vietnamese are getting rich. Guess who is reaping the biggest harvest? De Gaulle. It's the French who have the biggest economic ties to Saigon.

Tons of our dollars are going to Paris via Saigon. Scrip would cut that flow to a trickle.

H.L. Hunt Says

WHAT CAN ONE PERSON DO?

Our Republic is in danger from communism and crime. Our people are waking up tothe perils of riotous demands and demonstrations. Many ask, "What can I, one person, do?"

Those opposed to rising crime and communism can encourage and assist the ones most actively opposing crime and communism. We must never quit trying to start crusades, large or small. "Crusade" may seem a high-sounding word, but one simple dictionary definition is, "Any remedial enterprise undertaken with zeal and enthusiasm."

Any one person can undertake such an enterprise. A few individuals, working together with zeal and enthusiasm, can perform wonders for the cause of liberty. To oppose crime and communism and to encourage and assist those seasoned Friends of Freedom who have carried the load so long, the Freedomists in a family should organize. They and their close friends are with each other daily and can see quite well the factors and forces with which they will be dealing.

The enemies of freedom regiment willingly, become well organized and therefore are effective, as we can see every day that brings a new demonstration or riotous demand. It is easy for them to organize, since they prefer discipline. Regimentation is required for dictators and they always despoil and enslave.

There are big movements we would like to see initiated and pursued, but while waiting for them to turn the tide, let us take on the righteous armour of crusade and do everything we should and can do that is proper. Those who continue to actively oppose communism and crime and have become the defamed, so called "cranky extremists" are the best prospects to save our Republic with the encouragement of the silent majority. Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Health aftermaths of Dodd censure continue; reason for Committee opposition to banking investigation is now revealed; Bankers were placed on House Banking Committee

WASHINGTON--With the appointment of a new Chief Justice to the Supreme Court, Sen. Tom Dodd of Connecticut has taken heart and renewed his litigation against this column. However, the public benefits accruing from the Dodd censure continue to multiply.

Congressmen have recently filed their financial returns under the new code of ethical conduct adopted after the Dodd investigation, and they throw significant light on several previous congressional battles.

One of these was the backstage battle to limit the power of Rep. Wright Patman, elder statesman from Texarkana, Tex., chairman of the banking and currency committee, and a valiant defender of the public were high interest rates and dubious banking practices are concerned. Two years ago members of his committee ganged up on him to hamstring his investigative powers, remove his investigators and otherwise make impotent his power as a long-time bank critic.

Financial statements, which members of Patman's committee have ow filed, , give a significant clue to their passion for protecting the banks. Most of them held stock in either banks or building and loan associations.

Here is the roll call of Congressmen who battled backstage to clip the wings of their chairman when he wanted to be too forthright in pushing investigations of banks. All the Republicans on Patman's committee voted against him. They included:

--Friends of Bankers--

William Brock, Tenn., who it is now revealed is a stockholder in the Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga and Knoxville; Chester Mize of Kansas, who owns stock in a bank holding company; William Stanton of Ohio, who owns stock in the lake County (Ohio) National Bank.

In addition, the following Democrats ganged up against their fellow Democrat: Tom Gettys, S.C., trustee of an estate with stock in the rock hill national bank of Rock Hill., S.C.; William Moorhead of Pennsylvania, with stock in the mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh; Robert Stevens of Georgia with stock in he First National Bank of Athens, Ga.

Not all members of this committee voted their pocketbook interests, however. Henry Reuss of Wisconsin owns stock in a family banking company in Milwaukee; Tom Rees of California owns stock in the community bank of San Jose and the Westdale Savings and Loan; Richard T. Hanna, also of California, owns stock in occidental savings and loan. All voted with Patman, and Rees was instrumental in working out the compromise to help the chairman. Leonor Sullivan of Missouri, who owns stock in the liberty loan, Mercantile Trust and Mound City Trust of St. Louis, also voted with Patman.

A new banker has now been added to the banking and currency committee, Republican Congressman J. Glenn Beall, Jr. of Maryland, a director of the First National Bank and Trust of Baltimore.

--Tempting Offer--

The manner in which Bankers deliberately try to plant conflicts of interest in the banking and currency committee is illustrated by a conversation reported by Rep. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio, one of the few Spanish-American members of Congress. After he was appointed to this key banking committee, says Gonzalez, he received a visit from a San Antonio businessman banker.

"You are very popular in the part of town where we are going to have the bank," said the Banker. "It would be very helpful to have you in a serious business enterprise. In fact, we would like you to be chairman of the board."

The Banker reached for his brief case and started to pen it.

"We have prepared some papers," he said. "We think it would be a mutually profitable arrangement. We know you don't have any side interests, and your name would be helpful to us."

'Surely, broke in Gonzalez, "You know I am a member of the committee on banking and currency of the house."

The Banker looked at him quite innocently and replied: "No, I didn't know that."

"You are not going to tell me you were not aware of my committee standing," demanded Gonzalez, getting hot under the collar.

"I have these papers here," he said, "and we are going to let you have $14,000 in stock." The money, he suggested, could be paid back "in time." Gonzalez showed his visitor to the door.

Only the refusal by Gonzalez, apparently, made the incident unique. At least a dozen members of the house banking committee have had no compunction about accepting stock in the institutions whose profits they can affect.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

THE FUTURE REVISITED:

Reuther Planning Moscow Visit After Launching New U.S. Labor Movement.

Washington, D.C.: — It's been a long time since Walter Reuther bicycled most of the way to Moscow.

It's almost 40 years since he went to look personally at the future -- and supported himself there by working on the line.

Having lived and prospered during that turbulent future, the auto union chief, who intemittently turns recluse these days, plans to return to the Soviet Union this summer.

The rare associates who talk with the increasingly tense 61-year-old Reuther these days report that he is accepting the invitation of the Soviet "labor" chairman, Aleksandr Shelepin -- and that the Detroiter waited until he could revisit Moscow as head of a new U.S. labor federation -- the Alliance for Labor Action.

Considerable imagination has gone into planning the "First Founding Conference" of the labor "Alliance." No one knows quite how one report began circulating -- but it certainly did startle balmy Washington -- that the surprise guest and speaker of note would be James Riddle Hoffa, hale and hearty, albeit a bit pale from prison pallor.

Apparently the drum beaters were not counting on the pulling power of the scheduled speakers -- Whitney Young of the National Urban League, the countrywide black service organization, and Secretary of Labor Geoge Shultz.

Apparently there had also been a dearth of delegates -- and affiliation by unions other than the Auto Workers and the Teamsters Brotherhood. Some of the small unions which Mr. Reuther had wooed decided they just were not going to yield any jurisdiction to the Alliance, especially since some of those unions have central treasury and pension funds totaling more than $100 million.

In fact, the brothers from the Teamsters suddenly chilled a little when they learned that the basic charter of the new labor federation might obligate them to pay out millions of dollars on "crusades" which might pay off quite badly and over which they might have little control.

Teamsters' counselors and accountants did some quick reckoning in the final prefounding convention hours and discovered that Walter Reuther was talking of massive campaigns which would cost scores of millions of dollars.

It was all here in the Conference Call, written by Mr. Reuther and dispatched as recently as May 16.

"The purpose of the Alliance for Labor Action...," said the Call, "is to make a maximum contribution in cooperation with others in the national, state and local community efforts to deal effectively with America's many urgent social problems in the fields of education, housing, health care, full employment, human relations and environmental problems and other areas essential to the building of a more just society."

One Teamsters house counsel, after reading the manifesto, quipped that, "it looks like we're about to relieve President Nixon of his headaches, the White House of its problems, the Cabinet of its assignments, and set up an interim government."

The lawyers then warned members of the Teamsters General Executive Board that they could incur whopping debts in the immediate course of this sociological surge. But the Brotherhood's leaders pushed on. Why?

Association with Mr. Reuther has already paid off in some eminent circles. The esteemed American Arbitration Assn., appearing to believe that what's good enough for Walter Reuther is good enough for them, named Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons (stand-in for James Hoffa) as one of its prestigious directors. The Teamsters magazine made much of this. It's now par for the course (including some fine golf links) now being traveled by brother "Fitz."

As for Mr. Reuther -- he needs powerful allies.

Explosive revolution is flaring throughout the United Auto Workers. Mr. Reuther's ramparts are being assailed by young workers, black workers, and a pincer movement of union chiefs whom he has scalded with skillfully aimed verbal vitriol for exactly three years now.

Mark these lines well. It's safe to predict that these forces will intensify the pressure on Mr. Reuther and his union inside and out until observers will wonder how both he and the UAW can withstand the heat.

The auto union's basic contracts with the Big Three car manufacturers expire in the fall of 1970. That's just around a very hot corner. It may well be that Mr. Reuther and his fellow officers will go into negotiations without the power to decide which plants will be kept open or which companies should be closed down. That decision may well be made for him by militant young white and black workers.

And without the power to decide that plants will remain open or be struck, how can the Reuther team negotiate?

And so he'll need allies, a show of solidarity, the closing of a second front by a force such as the Teamsters should other powerful unions which he has taunted endlessly decide to raid his jurisdiction.

That's the future Mr. Reuther sees. If he doesn't, he's not the old "Walter." And not even his even-handed critics say he's not.

Ann Landers

Sis Acts 'Goofy' Over New Medicine

Dear Ann Landers: My sister, who is the mother of three darling children, has been acting awfully goofy of late. Ruth talks a lot more than she used to and much of her conversation makes no sense. Her husband told me in confidence that Ruth has been going to two doctors and neither one knows about the other. I'm beginning to put the pieces together since he mentioned his concern about the number of pills she takes.

I strongly suspect Ruth is getting some sort of "prescription only" drug from both doctors and that she is hopped up from too much stuff. Can this be dangerous? What should be done about it? — Mrs. No Name

Dear Mrs.: This can be dangerous. Like very. Also foolish. Your sister isn't hurting the doctors but she is jeopardizing her health and maybe her life. Ruth's husband should telephone each doctor and inform him of the other. And I hope you will urge him to do so at once. It could be a matter of life and death.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week our 3-year-old son got the mumps. The first thing the doctor asked was, "Has your husband had the mumps?" I asked Bennie and he couldn't remember so I called my mother-in-law. She said, "How am I supposed to know what happened 30 years ago? Two of my boys had mumps, but I don't know if it was Bennie and Louie or Louie and Izzy."

I called Louie. He said he had the mumps and he thought Bennie had them too, but he wasn't positive. So, the doctors gave my husband a shot. He was sick as a dog for a half a day.

Yesterday Izzy called to say he heard Bennie was sick from a mumps shot and asked, "Why did he take it? Bennie had the mumps when I did."

Please tell mothers everywhere that they can save their kids a lot of trouble by keeping a record of who had what. Thank you. — Zy Gezundt

Dear Zy: Right you are: But don't be too hard on your mother-in-law. Better for Bennie that he took a shot he didn't need than to have needed a shot he didn't take.

Dear Ann: Does the local newspaper office open the letters to you and then send them all together in a large envelope? Or do you receive the letters unopened? I guess what I really want to know is this: Do the people who work in the newspaper office, of say the Arkansas Gazette, see the Ann Landers mail before you do? — Needing Anonymity

Dear Needing: All mail addressed to Ann Landers is forwarded to me unopened. It is a federal offense to intentionally open a letter addressed to another party.

Confidential to Is The Time Now?: In my opinion — no. It is a wise person who knows when to seize an opportunity. It is a wiser one still who knows when to forego an advantage.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Beta Sigma Meets Tuesday

TAU Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met last Tuesday night at the home of Zelpha Davis, 604 Taylor, for it's last regular meeting until fall. Jewell Bell presided at the business meeting in the absence of President Gillie Russelburg.

Secret sisters were revealed with a Mother's Day Gift on May 11th. Programs for the coming year were discussed and new president, Jewell Bell announced her new committees.

Members voted on the best programs for the year and Doris Campbell and Zelpha Davis' programs won the awards. They were each given a star disk program award. Doris' program was, "Poetry Into Music" in which she gave the biography of Stephen Foster, playing records of all his famous songs, and also showed slides of the Stephen Foster Memorial and the Swanee River in Florida. Zelpha Davis' program was on "Modeling" and included the craft of sculpture. She demonstrated the different methods of modeling by the slab method, the coil system, papiermache, and also displayed finished products of the same.

Cultural program for the evening was given by Lila Brannock on "Architecture". She gave examples of the great memorials of ancient and modern architect, such as the pryamids of Egypt and the TAJ Mahal . . . The tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington and the city of Paris memorial to Claude Debussy. Great churches were discussed such as the Doric Greek Temple: Ionic Greek Temple; Nortre Dame Cathedral, Paris; Rheims Cathedral, France; Cologne Cathedral, Germany; Milan Cathedral, Italy; and the St. Peters Cathedral, Rome. The Doric and Ionic column was delined and the Gothic and Moorish arch. In the analysision of American archetecture she talked of the Chrysler building, the Empire State building in New York and other tall buildings in our various cities.

New Sunday School Class Organized

A new First Baptist Church Sunday School class was organized, Monday evening at the home of Mrs. O. U. Thornton 622 Matthews. Ten members were present with Mrs. Thornton presiding. Opening prayer was led by Nola Brown.

The devotional was given by Gusta proverbs, 31-10-27. The reading from a revised version title, a plain woman with a responsable heart. Her name was Philu.

From this the class took the name "phebe."

A slate of officers was selected. The class meeting will be the 3rd Monday in each month at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gusta Thornton, the teacher, all members joined hands as a chain of love to work together for the benefit of the class and it's growth closing prayer, by Monte Hamilton.

Refreshments of cake and coffee served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be June 16.

Immunization For Millions Of Children

ATLANTA (AP) — Millions of American youngsters will be immunized in a program designed to free the nation of German measles—a disease that causes birth defects.

The program will be started this summer, officials of the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) said Wednesday.

They said 8 million to 10 million children would be vaccinated in the first phase of the program and that eventually 40 million to 50 million children would be immunized.

The program is a massive effort to build resistance to the virus in children because they are its usual carriers, NCDC officials said.

Children—most likely to come in contact with the virus—pass it along to pregnant mothers. The disease, normally mild, is dangerous to pregnant women because it can cause malformation or death of the fetus.

The NCDC says outbreaks of German measles occur every six to nine years. An estimated 20 million persons were stricken during the last outbreak in 1964.

That outbreak the NCDC said, resulted in 50,000 abnormal pregnancies, 20,000 still births, and 30,000 children born with defects.

A new outbreak is expected by the NCDC this winter.

Dr. David J. Sencer, the NCDC director, said the new vaccine, developed about five years ago at the National Institute of Health division of biological standards, is expected to receive governmental approval within a month and be placed into general production. It has been under test for 3½ years.

Sencer said distribution arrangements are being made with 63 health departments around the country and that he has asked Congress for $9.6 million to finance the program.

Art Exhibit At East Prairie

EAST PRAIRIE — The fourth annual community art exhibit of East Prairie, will be held Sunday in the lobby of the First Bank of East Prairie beginning with a reception at 2:30 p.m. The exhibit will close on Saturday, June 7, at noon.

Any artist who lives in the East Prairie trade area and is over 18 years of age is eligible to display their art work. This must be an original work of art work produced within the past year.

Three out-of-town judges will judge the show Sunday between the hours of 1 and 2:30 p.m. and will choose 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners. Each winner will receive, in addition to cash awards of $50, $30, and $20, a certificate and a ribbon. The exhibitor may refuse the cash award and keep his item if he so desires. Also, as a first this year, an "honorable Mention" will be given for 4th and 5th place winners.

This show is sponsored jointly by the First Bank of East Prairie and the East Prairie Artists Guild.

"No One Can Tell Me What To Believe."

You have a mind of your own.

Your own sense of logic and carefully reasoned moral code can govern your behavior. So who needs some minister, priest, or rabbi telling you what to do all the time?

It's easy to think this way. It's easy to join the quiet revolution against organized religion and to let self-reliance take the place of the clergy.

But before you turn your back on religion completely, ask yourself how many times is the easy way really the better way. Push ego aside long enough to ask yourself if you've ever been wrong about anything.

Then go to your church or synagogue and just listen.

If your outlook remains unchanged, then you've still lost nothing. And you may gain more than you can imagine.

NORTH PEMISCOT's Wilson Strong, left, comes across third base to force out Lafayett's baserunner in semi-final action of the Missouri high school baseball tournament in Springfield Friday. The Mustangs dropped a 4-0 decision to bow out of competition after winning six straight games in tournament play.

Retains Title

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Oak Park of Kansas City successfully defended its Missouri state high school baseball championship Saturday, beaten Lafayette of St. Louis County, 5-1, on the same diamond where Oak Park won its title last year.

Ken Hollander permitted Lafayette seven hits while his Oak Park mates got only four. Hollander pitched out of jams in the first and second innings, striking out two batters in the second with two on base.

Oak Park left only two runners on base. Rick Keesee singled to center in the second inning and circled the bases when the ball eluded the fielder.

Oak Park scored four runs in the sixth on three bunts, two of them safe; a walk, two errors, a wild pitch and a wild pitch attempt.

Lafayette's run came in the fourth on singles by Dan Bullock and Don Howard and a double by Don Muse.

Oak Park was 19-8 for the season, with Hollander pitching eight of the victories.

Gibson Wins Sixth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson shackled the Los Angeles Dodgers with a 4-0 shutout Sunday, in his brilliant career.

The Cardinals furnished him with a 15-hit attack, scoring three times in the third on five consecutive hits and pushed across the fourth run on three singles in the fourth.

Gibson walked three and struck out nine en route to his sixth victory and third shutout of the season against only two losses.

Meanwhile, around the National League circuit.

Jimmy Wynn has walloped four home runs in Houston's last four games - a pretty good pace.

But Wynn's slugging clip is only about half as fast as the one Lee May is following. May tagged two more homers in Cincinnati's 7-2 victory over Montreal Sunday, giving him four in two games.

Wynn's eighth inning shot helped Houston's streaking Astros to a 6-3 victory over the New York Mets and gave him 12 for the year, tying him for the National League lead with May.

The two-man tie lasted about two hours or until Willie McCovey cracked his 12th and third in four games for San Francisco, making it a threeway deadlock. But McCovey couldn't prevent the Giants from dropping both ends of a doubleheader to Pittsburgh, 2-1 and 6-2.

In other National League games Sunday, Atlanta trimmed Philadelphia 4-1, and San Diego split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the first game 10-2 and dropping the second 1-0.

May drilled a three-run homer to break a 1-1 tie in the third inning and then unloaded a leadoff shot in the sixth. In two games, he drove in eight runs against the hapless Expos, who lost their 10th straight.

"I'm in the groove now," the soft-spoken Reds' first baseman said. "I'm just meeting the ball. This hitting is all within yourself. When you find yourself, is when you begin hitting."

May has smacked seven homers in the last 10 games and he got plenty of help Sunday. Bobby Tolan also homered for the Reds and Alex Johnson and Tony Perez added two hits apiece with Perez driving in a pair of runs.

Norm Miller smacked four hits and Curt Blefary three as the Astros hopped on Tom Seaver and whipped the Mets. Wynn's eighth inning homer gave Houston some extra breathing room.

The Astros, who've won eight straight and 17 of the 21 this month, hopped on Seaver, 6-3, for three runs in the first inning with Blefary's double and runscoring singles by Miller and Jesus Alou.

Jim Bunning won his 200th major league game, beating San Francisco for Pittsburgh in the opener of their doubleheader with Willie Stargell's eighth-inning double driving home the winning run.

Then McCovey and Bobby Bonds hit second game homers for the Giants but it wasn't enough as the Pirates completed the sweep. Bill Mazeroski's homer touched off a three-run Pittsburgh third and Carl Taylor later tagged his first major league homer for two more runs.

Atlanta used its pitching cousins - George Stone and Cecil Upshaw - to throttle Philadelphia on five hits.

Indy Field Set

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The emphasis is back on the drivers for this year's Indianapolis 500, with A.J. Foyt driving from the pole position for a record fourth victory in the Memorial Day race.

The turbine car, which came close to winning the last two years, and part of the 500's international flavor disappeared Sunday as the starting field of 33 cars was completed.

This year's only turbine entry qualified at 156.440 miles per hour, four m.p.h. slower than any other car, and it was only a matter of time until it was bumped from the field.

Foyt won the pole with a speed of 170.568 m.p.h.

The number of foreign drivers in this year's race shrank to two when the builder and designer of the Lotus cars, Colin Chapman of Britain, withdrew the last of the Lotuses, driven by Jochen Rindt of Austria and 1966 Indy winner Graham Hill of Britain. They made no qualifying attempts.

"It's tragic, I think," said Hill. "Lotus put so much time into these cars."

Denis Hulme of New Zealand and Jack Brabham of Australia are the only foreign drivers in the race.

Chapman said the Lotuses were withdrawn because of concern over the safety of their wheel hubs.

Foyt, surprised at winning the pole Saturday despite trouble in his car's exhaust system, said, "With a little lady luck we're in good shape."

He was joined in the front row by two-time pole sitter Mario Andretti and defending champion Bobby Unser. Andretti, from Nazareth, Pa., qualified in 169.851 m.p.h. and Unser, the Albuquerque, N.M., driver, who won from the third spot last year, had a 169.683.

The second row drivers, who posted speeds of 168 m.p.h., are led by Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., a highly regarded Indy rookie with an Ivy League and sports car background.

Veterans Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., and Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., took the fifth and sixth spots.

McCluskey is driving one of the three cars entered by owner-driver Foyt. George Snider of Bakersfield, Calif., put the other car in the 15th starting spot to give the team a 3-for-3 record.

In contrast, STP magnate Andy Granatelli of Chicago, got only three of his 11 entries in. The Lotuses were among the STP cars.

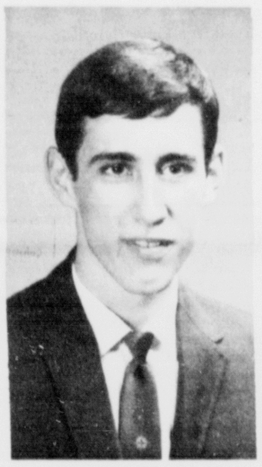
Andretti, Granatelli's main hope, demolished another Lotus last week when a hub broke off and switched to an older car with a Brawner Hawk chasis and turbo-charged Ford engine.

Foyt, whose car also is turboFord powered, looked forward to the Friday race with the observation that "Mario will fight you till the end. He's worse than me."

"I didn't think I had a chance for the pole until Mario qualified at 169," Foyt said.

Unser and Donohue both have Lola cars with turbocharged Offenhauser engines. In all, the field has 11 turbo-Fords, 19 turbo-Offys, Dan Gurney's stock block Ford engine and the two Australian-made Repco engines in Brabham cars.

Billy Vukovich, last year's Rookie of the Year, was the fastest qualifier Sunday.



DANIEL DEMPSTER Jr., a member of the 1969 graduation class was the winning of the athletic award at ceremonies recently. He was a member of the basketball, baseball and track teams and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dempster of Benton.

Sounds ridiculous, doesn't it?

But what if everybody in this country were to throw their hands up in despair and say they don't give a hoot.

Indeed, there would be no tomorrow.

But fortunately, Americans have a way of solving their problems.

And that's just what's going to happen in these troubled times. Simply because it's always been an American tradition.

Now, how can you as one little 'ole citizen in this big, wide country of ours be of any help?

Well, think about U.S. Savings Bonds.

No, it isn't an immediate remedy for all our ills. But it helps.

If everybody were to buy Bonds, your country would be stronger economically to wipe out some of those scars we've been sporting.

Of course, everybody would be helping themselves too. If you were to sign up for Payroll Savings at work, you'd have quite a nice nest egg for yourself one of these days.

For things like college educations, that new home, or a secure retirement.

So think about U.S. Savings Bonds today.

FROM THE SIKESTON HERALD FRIDAY, May 24, 1918

H. L. Clayton arrived home on Wednesday from Camp Funston, where he is in training for army service. He has a six-day furlough and will leave here next Tuesday.

Mrs. Bettie Matthews and Mrs. Mollie Marshall spent a few days this week in Poplar Bluff visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. J. C. Corrigan and family, returning home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Moore and baby and Mrs. P. I. Bonner of Canalou, were here Wednesday enroute to Cairo where Mrs. Moore entered St. Mary's Informary for treatment.

Save the difference. Trade at the "Farmers."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Banks and children of Malden, arrived here Wednesday to visit Mrs. Banks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilkins and family. Mr. Banks will leave the latter part of this week for Alabama, where he will work for the Government.

Fresh Strawberries. They're fine. - "Farmers."

The case of J. C. Davis, plantiff, vs. W. L. Carroll, defendant, for $39.60 which the former claimed the latter owned him was tired before J. C. Lescher Monday. Attorney Matt Reichert represented the plaintiff, Mr. Davis got judgment against the defendant for this amount.

M. G. Pittman, general manager in Southeast Missouri and Northeast Arkansas for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, was here this week on business connected with the local agency. A. E. Shankle having resigned as agent for the company in Sikeston, J. D. McCue was secured to succeed him.

Lee W. Rood, field agent for Westminster College, Fulton, Mo. the past year but formerly of Caruthersville, has arrived safely in France. He went in the interest of the Y.M.C.A. work. His son, Robert F. Rood, who was with the flying corps, has been detained on Long Island on account of a sprained ankle and was unable to sail with his companions but will go as soon as he is able. Mrs. Rood will probably apply for a clerical position under the Government and will do her "bit" in this country where help is so badly needed.

Mr. M. J. Snider,
Chief Engineer
State Highway Commission
Jefferson City, Mo.

Dear Marvin:

Many thanks for your letter of May 7 with enclosed progress report of Interstate Route 55 from Festus to Fruitland.

I appreciate your sending this to me very much.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,
Warren E. Hearnes

Honorable Warren E. Hearnes
Governor of Missouri
State Capitol Building
Jefferson City, Mo. 65101

Dear Governor Hearnes:

I am enclosing our report showing the status of plans and right-of-way acquitition on Interstate Route 55 from Festus to Fruitland as of May 1, 1969. You will note that this chart shows little, if any, progress during the month on any of the sections. This is due to the sections in Ste. Genevieve County being in the hands of our Legal Division where the condemnation petition is being written. We have and are still encountering considerable delay in clearing up this right of way and is even causing the delay in filing the condemnation petition. The delay stems from water mains which in some cases are located on public rights of way and in other cases on private rights of way. Even the case where we offer to pay the cost of moving, we are unable to get an estimate of cost and a location of the existing lines and the desired relocation. The representatives of the water district simply tell us that they are too busy to furnish the information.

I understand that we have finally received the abstract information that was holding us up for some time; thanks to you.

We are prepared to place the Ste. Genevieve County projects under contract as soon as the right of way can be cleared. We also think that we could finance the Cape Girardeau section as soon as that right of way is cleared.

If the Perry County sections would clear up first, we would give serious consideration to letting contracts on them. In other words, we want to get the work under contract as soon as possible.

Yours very truly,
Chief Engineer

Astronauts Shave in Space For First Time

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts shaved in space for the first time Sunday. No American astronaut had tried it before.

"We were getting where we could barely stand ourselves there for awhile," Eugene A. Cernan said as his teammates' beardless chins appeared on color television from space.

The space agency had spent thousands of dollars trying unsuccessfully to develop a power razor.

Experts had said the shorn bristles would float around in the weightlessness of space. No razor ever made it off the ground.

Then a fellow astronaut bought a safety razor in a drug store and gave it to the Apollo 10 men.

So Cernan, Thomas P. Stafford and John W. Young shaved the regular way and had no problems.

"After spending a lot of money on mechanical shavers—which always manage to leave the whiskers flying around the atmosphere—somebody finally came up with the idea of using a razor and brushless shaving cream," Young reported with deadpan seriousness.

"You rub it on and it keeps the whiskers when you shave it off," Young continued. "Put it in a towel and dispose of it and you end up clean shaven."

Many astronauts have complained about their itchy beards bothering them in space.

When they broke out the shaving equipment Sunday, Stafford only hinted at what they were doing, calling it "scientific experiment Sugar Hotel Alpha Victor Echo."

The first letters of the last five words spell "S-H-A-V-E."

Presents Recital

Mrs. Helen Loud Jones presented her piano pupils in a recital Sunday afternoon at the Sikeston Public Library. A large crowd was present. The selections were well rendered and enjoyed.

Miss Karon Shipman, who is at home for a vacation from The School of the Ozarks, where she is studying music, played a selection. Karon is a former pupile of Mrs. Jones.

HHH Says Bombing May Have Prolonged War

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, whose unsuccessful presidential campaign was entangled in the controversy over Johnson administration Vietnam policy, says President Nixon now is able to deal with Ho Chi Minh without the constant attention of Communist China and the Soviet Union.

And Humphrey said the bombing—which was one of the biggest issues of the controversy—may have been responsible more than anything else for keeping the North Vietnamese in the war.

The former vice president said in an interview that Red China and the Soviet Union are more concerned with each other—rather than Vietnam—since their border battles.

"In other words," said Humphrey, "Ho Chi Minh sits up there in the North with the two big brothers staring at each other eyeball to eyeball across the border between the Soviet Union and China. They've got bigger fish to fry and more dangerous things to face and greater interests than North and South Vietnam."

Humphrey voiced approval of the President's statement of Vietnam policy, but said Nixon "is going to be in trouble" over domestic problems "unless he reverses his field."

"I think President Nixon and his Administration have misjudged the urgency of the domestic crisis—I mean the danger of it." Humphrey termed the budget for domestic programs inadequate.

The pattern of violence on the campus, Humphrey said, "is only just a transfer of the pattern of violence from what was the ghetto violence a little while ago.

"Now that can be transferred back into the ghetto immediately and with grave dangers. And I think Mr. Nixon's budget is inadequate ... I think the sense of urgency is not there. I think he knows what the facts are, but I don't believe there is the feeling you have to move as rapidly as I believe we have to."

In making his statement on Vietnam, Humphrey said, Nixon "actually said nothing new. But it was a new man that said it, and the timing was fortuitous" in that it came after the National Liberation Front issued its 10-point settlement plan indicating "some movement on their part."

Stephens Presents Optomistic Program

Herb Stephens, Optimist program chairman, presented a colored film today at the Rustic Rock on the rehabilitating hundreds of children at the Shriners hospital, St. Louis.

A member of the Sikeston Shriners, Mr. Stephens, explained through the film, how many patients, from small infants to teenage children, overcame body deformities, through treatment at an early age.

He reminded club members that any family, who has a child that needs attention, may contact a Shriner for admittance to the hospital.

Laird Defends Viet Battlefield Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has spoken out in support of U.S. battlefield tactics in Vietnam, which Democratic critics say cause needless loss of American lives.

"It's always been our goal to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties," Laird said Sunday, adding that U.S. commanders continue under instructions to carry out this policy.

Laird, a Republican congressman from Wisconsin before President Nixon appointed him defense chief, outlined his view in an interview before he boarded his airplane for a week-long North Atlantic Treaty Organization planning conference in Brussels and London.

Battlefield tactics have come under mounting criticism from Democratic leaders since the 10-day battle in which GIs drove North Vietnamese off Dong Ap Bia Mountain in 11 assaults that cost some 50 American lives.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D.-Mass., called the battle "senseless and irresponsible" in a Senate speech last week and his stand was supported over the weekend by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Mansfield said Sunday the United States is jeopardizing progress in the Paris peace talks by escalating the war through expanded military pressure creating an "act-react syndrome."

"What we ought to do is not so much apply pressure in Vietnam as to instead apply pressure in Paris," the Montana senator said. "That is where peace is going to be made, not on the battlefield."

Mansfield made the comment on CBS' "Face the Nation."

McGovern praised Kennedy Saturday for speaking out "in protest against a truly senseless slaughter" and added, "The only way to end the war in Vietnam is to bring our troops home."

Kennedy followed McGovern to the podium at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner by the New Democratic Coalition and spoke again of what he called the "cruelty and savagery of the past week."

"It would have been immoral," Kennedy said, to remain silent about what he called "an unjustified war, an immoral war."

Laird's position and that of the generals is essentially that a cutback in U.S. "spoiling operations" would invite heavier casualties by relinquishing to the enemy the initiative of when, where and how to strike at passive U.S. positions.

A Pentagon statement contended that small-unit patrolling and reconnaissance, and battalion-size operations which result, "are not, in fact, offensive operations but are an active defense aimed at delaying or altering enemy plans."

It is the Nixon administration's position that, as the Pentagon put it, "casualties have been a product of enemy offensive actions rather than of U.S. or South Vietnamese armed forces actions."

Laird declined to discuss the Dong Ap Bia operation in particular. "We shouldn't try to second guess our commanders after an action has taken place," he said.

The defense secretary said U.S. military commanders "are carrying out to the best of their ability orders prescribed by President Nixon and President Johnson" governing conduct of the war on the ground in Vietnam.

He agreed that the ground operation rules now in effect are the same as those which prevailed under Lyndon B. Johnson's administration.

Pesticides for Food Production Use Outlawed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has outlawed 10 pesticide chemicals for all use in food production and has tightened limitations on 56 others because of residue on food products.

The department's action involves withdrawal of federal registration, required when such chemicals are sold in interstate commerce.

Dr. Harry W. Hays, director of pesticide regulation, said the cancellations affect companies which received one-year extensions in 1968 but did not submit new information or progress reports.

A department spokesman said the 10 pesticide chemicals for which federal registration is cancelled included: Anthracene oil, citronella, EMMI, nabam, phenylmercury monoethauol, ammonium acetate, phenylmercury nitrate, phenylmercury urea, potassium cresylate, 8-quinolinol benzoate, and sodium cresylate.

Recipient of Obscene Mail May Require Name Taken off List

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A three-judge federal court, upholding the 1968 obscenity law, says anyone can stop obscene matter from being mailed to them.

"To require a commercial enterprise to strike a name from a mailing list seems little burden to impose," declared U. S. Dist Court Judges Manuel Real and Martin H. Carr. A separate, concurring opinion was written by U. S. Circuit Court Judge Shirley M. Husstedler.

The special court ruled on a suit brought by Daniel Rowen of the Ameican Book Service and 14 other claiming the law violated rights of free speech and press.

ALL MEAT WIENERS

Fresh lean meat, old world spicing, and billowing hardwood smoke make KREY Wieners hot diggity dog good. Ask for the tender skinless kind or, if you so desire, select the Old Tyme Brand in natural casings for extra fine flavor.

INTERNATIONAL KABOBS: Cut 1-inch cubes of KREY Braunschweiger and wrap with a slice of water chestnut in strips of KREY Bacon or Gourmet Ham. Roast over grill on skewers while basting with a mixture of ½ cup soy sauce, ½ cup sugar, 2 tbs. hot prepared mustard and ½ tsp. ginger.

DUTCHMAN'S WIENERS: Split grilled KREY Wieners lengthwise, put a slice of pickle between halves, wrap in slices of grilled KREY Bologna and serve on heated hot dog buns.

PICNIC SPECIAL THURINGER: Spread slices of rye bread with finely chopped potato salad, add slices of KREY Thuringer, and top with rye bread spread with mustard.

COLD CUTS

KREY uses the finest old world formulas known to meat packing. You're bound to like KREY BRAUNSCHWEIGER, SALAMI, THURINGER, BOLOGNA and all the others. Have 'em sliced thick or thin, or cut 'em in small or large cubes. They're real cool for picnics and outdoor barbecues.

DUTCH DEVILLED EGGS: Cut 1 dozen hard boiled eggs in half and stuff with a mixture of the egg yolks mashed with ¼ lb. KREY Braunschweiger, 3 tbs. softened butter, 1 tsp. poultry seasoning and a dash of cayenne.

BARBECUED BOLOGNA: Thread 1-inch cubes of KREY Bologna on skewers and heat over grill, basting with a mixture of 1 cup ketchup, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1½ tbs. Worcestershire, 1½ tsp. mustard and 1 tsp. onion salt.

MUSHROOM BRAUNSCHWEIGER BALLS: Stuff large mushroom caps with softened KREY Braunschweiger, put two together, alternate with small onions and heat on skewers.

BALL GAME HOT DOGS

These superior Gourmet-type wieners are all meat. Selected spices in the Ball Game formula impart championship flavor and make a hit every time. Whether you grill them or heat them in water, they really score big.

HAM 'N' CHEESE NAPOLEONS: Soften snappy cheese spread by bringing to room temperature, spread on slices of KREY Gourmet Ham and stack up four deep. Cut in 1-inch strips and cool in refrigerator until serving.

FRANKFURTERS HAWAIIAN: Cut KREY Gourmet Franks in 1½-inch chunks and alternate on skewers with chunks of pineapple, quarters of tomatoes and small onions. Broil over griddle basting with mixture of brown sugar, vinegar, orange juice and mustard.

BOSTON HARBOR PUPPIES: Spread ½ heated hot dog bun with thick layer mashed baked beans, add grilled KREY Wieners and top with other half bun spread with ketchup.

GOURMET FRANKS

KREY jumbo frankfurters are ALL MEAT and, because they run four to a pound and have natural casings, they retain their juices. Blended of the tenderest meats with fine spices and deep smoke flavoring, they make any barbecue frankly festive.

WIENERS MEXICAINE: Spread heated hot dog buns with mustard, add grilled KREY Wieners. Top with sauce made from ½ lb. ground browned beef, 1 small chopped onion, ½ cup tomato sauce, 1 tbs. chili powder and salt to taste.

FARMER'S BRAUNSCHWEIGER: Spread one slice of rye bread with KREY Braunschweiger, add sliced hard cooked eggs and top with rye slice spread with mayonnaise.

BRAUNSCHWEIGER SURPRISES: Around large stuffed olives, mold ½-inch thickness of softened KREY Braunschweiger, wrap in 1½-inch strips KREY Bacon or Gourmet Ham and heat over grill on skewers.

Demos Still Plagued By Internal Strife

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic party is still plagued by the strains and tensions that tore it apart last year and contributed heavily to its loss of the presidency.

Resistance from within and serious financial problems are hampering national and state efforts to remedy structural defects.

In a scattering of special and municipal elections this year, Democrats have compiled a mixed record.

They held a Tennessee congressional seat and picked one up in a longtime Republican district in Wisconsin. A Democrat won the nonpartisan mayor's election in Omaha, Neb., and another holds a lead in polls for mayor of Los Angeles.

But internal splits contributed heavily to the party's loss of the Minneapolis mayoralty and are threatening its chance to oust Republican Mayor John Lindsay of New York.

Party leaders are optimistic about holding governorships in New Jersey and Virginia, the only two being contested this year.

But on the national level, leadership is fragmented.

Hubert H. Humphrey, the nominal leader, is pointing himself towards a Senate race in 1970 and will regain a national forum shortly as chairman of the new Democratic Policy Council.

Lyndon B. Johnson, the most powerful single Democrat just months ago, has withdrawn from party affairs.

The Democratic congressional leadership, House Speaker John W. McCormack, 77, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, 66, have exhibited little initiative to date, although Mansfield has moved to convert the Democratic Policy Committee of the Senate into a group that will issue party policy positions.

A trio of senators, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, maneuver warily towards the far-off 1972 Presidential election with polls showing the 37-year-old Kennedy a heavy favorite of rank-and-file Democrats.

But some party leaders were jolted by a Gallup Poll last week showing Kennedy trailing President Nixon 33 per cent to 52 per cent if an election were held then. It was a shift of some 10 points to the Republicans since last November's election.

Supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy expect the Minnesota Democrat to make another bid for the presidency in 1972.

But he has stayed aloof from most political activities and is sticking so far to his announced decision not to seek his party's nomination for another Senate term in 1970.

The party's national chairman, Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, has given party headquarters its first thorough shakeup since 1960.

Installed as a Humphrey man, Harris, 38, is building his own political strength through control of the national machinery. He hopes to name the policy council within a few days.

The leading Democratic national figures are in general agreement on issues such as the antiballistic missile system and the need for more emphasis on domestic priorities. But McGovern and Kennedy have been more outspoken in criticizing the Nixon administration on Vietnam.

The national committee is making active plans for 1970 and has been helping Democratic candidates in the congressional races and the Los Angeles mayoral contest where all top party leaders are supporting Negro Tom Bradley in his race against Mayor Samuel F. Yorty, a nominal Democrat.

But the party is still crippled by the deficit of close to $6 million it inherited from Humphrey's 1968 campaign. A $1,000-a-plate dinner the Democratic Sponsors Club of New York plans for June 12 is the first major effort to whittle the deficit, and a drive is under way to build a roster of paying participating party members.

Democrats hope to maintain control of Congress next year and to make inroads on the 30-20 Republican majority in governorships. But they face an uphill fight in the Senate where they have a 57-43 majority but must defend 25 seats while seeking to capture only nine held by Republicans.

On the House side, where Democrats have a 244-190 majority now, party leaders have moved to revitalize their campaign committee.

The New Democratic Coalition, a loose grouping of the party's McCarthy-Kennedy-McGovern elements, held its fundraising dinner, a $100-a-plate affair, last Saturday. But the NDC too has its internal strains, which reflect those of the party at large.

Kennedy agreed to address the dinner, his first political speech in Washington this year, only after he reportedly made sure McCarthy wasn't coming.

While Kennedy, McGovern and Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa addressed the gathering, McCarthy declined an invitation and Muskie wasn't even intired. The reformers consider him an organization man.

More than 30 states have NDC units, and many are active in local contests.

Dear Sir:

Patriots feel they have won a victory in keeping Fortas from becoming the Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. The victory you intend to win is a more pleasant subject than one that you have lost. They should not be satisfied with this single victory and cease to crusade. There is a turn to the Right and patriots should make the most of it and keep it going by keeping on trying. They did not overcome much great opposition except they opposed the President of the United States, who appointed Fortas. They should never forget the present Supreme Court is referred to as the "Warren Court." The United States Constituion empowers Congress to preclude the U. S. Supreme Court from accepting appeals from lower courts of those convicted of certain crimes; and every voter has 3 member to represent him in Congress. Members of Congress read with great interest "Letters to the Editor" which are available to their constituents.

Ersatz Meats Rate High in Food Value

CHICAGO (AP) — It may look like ham, it may taste like ham but it may in fact be soybeans. Nutritionally, it may be better than ham.

The ersatz ham, along with chicken and corn beef made of protein derived primarily from soybeans, was shown for sampling at the annual meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists.

Pork and bacon substitutes alos are made of soybeans, and lamb is being developed.

William J. Downey, a vice president of Fritzsche Brothers, Inc., New York, which displayed the meat substitutes, called them "the food of tomorrow."

Since the products are tailor made, he said in an interview, they can excel the edibles they simulate in terms of nutrition.

But products cannot be sold to the public on the basis of their nutritional value alone, so it is necessary to make the substitutes look and taste like something else, Downey explained.

Robert J. Eiserle, another vice president of Fritzsche, said the substitute products would be in food stores in five to 10 years.

The price will go down with mass production so the poor can afford them, he said.

Dr. R. F. Robinson, technical director of Worthington Food, Worthington, Ohio, said hamburger meat is only 60 per cent protein, but the soybean substitute is 90 per cent protein.

He said the protein meat substitutes have less fat than the real thing and retain their texture better during cooking.

"SOFT" WATER SAVES YOU MONEY

Hard water is more than a constant irritation to the busy homemaker. It's also hard on the pocketbook. According to the Water Conditioning Foundation, you need more soap and hot water, clothes and linens wear out faster, and scaly deposits shorten the life of pipe and water-using equipment. Estimates on the savings that result when water softening equipment is used range from $150 to over $300.

"I feel very safe and secure in our Maverick, little as it is. It really holds the road. My husband bought it for me as a shopping car, but every morning, he says, well I guess I'll take the Maverick to work today."
Mrs. Kenneth Miller, North Babylon, N.Y.

MAVERICK Ford

"I wanted a car and foreign cars are hard to fix. So my brother said Maverick was coming, and I waited. It's a great car to learn to drive with. You can park it and drive it so easily. I really love it."
Mrs. Jeanne Lewis, Bayside, New York

"We bought the Maverick as a second car when a tree fell on our import. Maverick handles better and feels solid and safe on the road. When I hit a bump in the other car it was like going over a mountain. Maverick really flattens them out and I'm getting 25 miles to the gallon."
Mr. Jack Orben, Computer Specialist, White Plains, New York

"Everybody keeps coming over to look at it. The other night three cars stopped. We thought we had company. Everyone in our neighborhood says for the price it's unbelievable. It looks like it cost much more."
Mrs. Robert J. Stalz, Deer Park, New York

Gideon Boy Wins $200 Scholarship

GIDEON — Paul Wayne White, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee White, Rural Route 2, Gideon, is the winner of the MFA College Scholarship awarded to a member of this year's graduating class of Gideon High School.

The announcement was made at the commencement exercises held at the high school Friday (May 23) night.

White plans to attend the Arkansas State University and will study Art.

While attending high school he was vice-president of the National Honor Society, editor of the yearbook, member of the Student Council, pep club, and band. He is also a member of the Baptist Church.

The $200 scholarship is presented by the MFA Foundation and Gideon MFA Exchange. It is one of 128 similar scholarships being presented to high school graduates this year by the Missouri Farmers association and affiliated agencies.

Five Law Schools Accept Wallace

CHARLESTON — Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace have received word that their daughter Pat, who will be graduated from the University of Missouri on June 3, has been accepted by at least five law schools. Pat and her parents are currently debating the relative merits of Vanderbilt University, Southern Methodist, the University of Tennessee, the University of Illinois and Missouri University schools of law.

Bloomfield Girl Scouts Get Awards

BLOOMFIELD — Cadettes from Girl scout Troop 51 of Bloomfield received First Class Awards at an impressive ceremony recently at Cape Girardeau.

130 ninth grade Cadette Girl Scouts were recipients of this high honor at the Cotton Boll and Otahki Girl Scouts First Class Award ceremony.

Troop 51 with their sponsor, Mrs. Billy Almond were honored guests at a luncheon at the Colonial Inn before the ceremony and were guests at a reception in Memorial Hall on the campus of Southeast Missouri State College. Hosts of the reception were, Dr. and Mrs. Mark Scully.

The program opened with an organ prelude by Dr. Dan Cotner followed by the processional of First Class Scouts and Escorts. The flag ceremony was performed by Cadette Troop 150 of Cape Girardeau.

Debbie Collins, Senior Troop 159 of Sikeston gave the invocation. Opening remarks were given by Executive Director, Mary Spitzmiller of the Otahki Council followed by greetings from the host council extended by Mrs. Dan Cotner, Otahki president. The guests were welcomed by Dr. Mark Scully, president of Southeast Missouri State College.

Mrs. Jean Bell Mosley was the guest speaker. Mrs. Thurston Hill, president of the Cotton Boll Council conducted the ceremony for the awards presentation. The Girl Scout Promose was given by Debbie Collins to close the program.

Donna Almond, Glenda Ayers, Donna Hopkins, Melody Lankford, Darlene McRoy, Susan Myrick, Lou Ann Nelson, Carol Shipman and Connie Shipman received the award.

Other Stoddard County Scouts who were honored with the award were as follows: Troop 128, Essex. Debora Pope, Mary Schuerenberg and Ginger Wilson. Their leader is Ms. Paul Schuerenberg.

Troop 46, Dexter, Carolee Asberry, Janie Averett, Jeanie Averett, Becky Bailiff, Lin Brinley, Cindy Coffey, Susan Cowan, Diane Edwards, Sherry Frields, Pam Gaines, Pam Hodder, Willa Kimbrel, Susan Mayer, Glen Ellen Medler, Paula Medler, Gail Robinett, Sharon Russell, Laurie Webb and Lucille Wooldridge, Leader, Mrs. J. LIVE LEADS BY THE HUNDREDS
We're a big time company, ($70,000,000) in sales, but we have a small town philosophy. (Maybe that's how we got to be big.) We don't promise the moon. If you have the ability and you're willing to work hard, you'll make a good buck with us. Not a fortune, although some of our men do realize as much as $30,000. However, most of our beginning men are in the $11, $15,000 category! But one of the good things about Famous Schools in that almost every salesman increases his income year after year after year.

Many of our sales force have been with us fifteen years. They tell us they have found a "home" and we're tickled they did. Maybe Famous schools is the spot for you, if you're really looking for a lifetime career opportunity.

As part of Famous Schools youthful sales team you will be supplied with qualified leads from our national advertising. You've seen our ads in Life, Look, Reader's Digest and on TV.

Famous Artists. Famous Writers, and famous Photographers, Schools . . . the Famous Schools, Westport, Connecticut offers America's most distinguished faculty including: Norman Rockwell, Jon Whitcomb, Rod Sterling, Bennet Cerf, Faith Baldwin, Richard Avedon, Bert Stern, Irving Penn.

The ideal man is over 21 years of age, owns a good servicable car, is bondable and can do some traveling.

In addition to high commissions you receive full company benefits including major medical policy and company paid insurance. Sound interesting? We think it should. If you want an income, security and time to speed with your family.

Phone Sat. Sun. or Mon.

IN MEMORIUM

IN MEMORIAM
IN MEMORY OF HM/1
JAMES D. KINDER, USN
Always a smile, never a frown,
Always a hand when someone was down;
Happiness you gave to everyone you knew,
No better things could anyone do,
Your presence brought joy to everyone's heart,
Laughter and cheerfulness right from the start.
God gave us a gift, then took it away.
But your beautiful memory is here to stay.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We little thought your death so near,
Any only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

PUBLIC NOTICE

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF SCOTT COUNTY
BENTON, MISSOURI
CENTRAL MATERIALS CORPORATION, a Missouri Corporation, Plaintiff, vs. WILLIAM E. DUNN and DUNN, wife of William E. Dunn, or his unknown heirs, grantees, representatives, and successors if William E. Dunn be not living, or his assigns, Defendants.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION OF NOTICE
THE STATE OF MISSOURI TO DEFENDANT: William F. Dunn and Dunn, wife of William E. Dunn, or his unknown heirs, grantees, representatives, and successors if William E. Duna be not living, or his assigns.

You are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against you in the Circuit Court of Scott County, Missouri, the object and general nature of which is the foreclosure of Oran special tax bill No. III -28 which affects the following described property:

Nineteen (19) feet of Fractional Part of Lot Eight (8), and all of Lots Nine (9) and Ten (10) Block Six (6), of C. & A. J. Matthew's Second Addition to Oran, Scott County, Missouri.

The names of all the parties to said suit are stated in the above caption hereof, and the name and address of the attorneys for the plaintiff is Spradling, Bradshaw & Drusch, 1838 Broadway, Cape Girardeau, Missouri. You are further notified that unless you file an answer or other pleading or shall otherwise appear and defend against the foregoing action within 45 days after the 5th day of May, 1969, judgment by default will be rendered against you.

IT IS ORDERED that a copy hereof be published according to law in the Sikeston Standard, a newspaper of general circulation published in the county of Scott, State of Missouri.

A TRUE COPY FROM THE RECORD.

WITNESS my hand and the seal of the Circuit Court, this 1st day of May, 1969.

Lynn F. Ingram
Circuit Clerk

TRAVEL-MATES—Avondale's stretch cotton gabardine in Americana-colored checks is the choice for versatile separates. The belted vest tops a long-sleeved blouse of navy cotton batiste. McCall's Pattern 9499 also includes instructions for a jacket, shorts, and slacks.

WHITE HOUSE call is made daily by Dr. Walter R. Tkach, who is the President's physician. Job carries with it responsibility for attending huge White House staff and Nixon and Agnew families.

AIRBORNE—Departing from New York via Pan American World Airways is 1969 Maid of Cotton Cathy Muirhead. She's fashionably attired in a double woven cotton wrap dress by Tiffeau Busch. Sharing center stage are a few pieces of her Skyway luggage that will accompany her on travels throughout the United States, Canada, and the Far East.

'69 VERSION OF THE PANTSUIT—Maid of Cotton Cathy Muirhead steps out in a sun-bright green pantsuit by Samuel Robert. In cotton canvas, the dashing ensemble is tied at the waist and edged at the neck and cuffs in white leather. Capturing the today look are sidewalk-skimming wide leg pants.

CANTON – A unique undergraduate fellowship in its initial four years will be continued at Culver-Stockton College, Dr. Fred Helsaback, announced.

The honor service fellowship program, which may be the only one of it kind on undergraduate level, was made possible by a $45,000 grant from Moorman Foundation, Quincy, Ill.

Initiated in the fall of 1965, it provides financial help to outstanding students who can aid in the academic program by working 51 hours a week. The may serve as teaching assistants, substitute teachers, research assistants, tutors, musical accompanists, or intramural directors.

The program was started with a $32,000 grant, and $8,500 by the college. In next five years recipients will receive $2,500 each.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

We have received . . the Spirit which is from God, that we might understand the gifts bestowed on us by God. And we impart this in words not taught by human wisdom but taught by the Spirit. (I Corinthians 2:12-13, RSV)

PRAYER: O Holy Spirit, You are more willing to impart to us the things of God than we are to receive them. Keep our minds alert and our hearts sensitive to Your lessons and Your direction. Through Your help may we follow God's way and our lives glorify His name. Amen.

Sues Veterinarian For Cat Bite

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Peter took his cat Queenie to a veterinarian to have some wax removed from her ear. In preparation for the treatment, the veterinarian held Queenie's head, his assistant held her rear quarter and Peter, at the request of the vet, held her forelegs.

While it appeared that Queenie had to be a Houdini to free herself, she proved to be naturally resourceful. With a sudden squirt, she emptied her bladder full blast into the startled faces of the veterinarian held Queenie's head, his assistant causing them to relinquish their grip on her. Thus partially freed, Queenie completed her escape by biting Peter on the hand and taking off through an open window as though she was headed for China.

When Peter's hand subsequently became infected, he sued the veterinarian for his injury.

"Not only was he careless in losing his grip on Queenie," complained Peter in court, "but he was careless in asking me to hold her legs in the first place. After all, I'm no animal trainer."

"But it was his cat," was the veterinarian's answer. "Under the circumstances, it was perfectly reasonable for me to ask him to hold her. I felt that in his hands, she wouldn't feel afraid in our clutches."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the vet liable for the catastrophe to Peter's hand?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that, under the circumstances, it was not negligent for either the veterinarian or his assistant to have relaxed their grip on Queenie; nor was it negligent to have asked Peter to hold his cat. The incident, concluded the judge, was one that could not necessarily have been prevented.

Dear Mr. Blanton:

The lines from the poem
"I shot an arrow into the air
It fell to earth –I knew not where."
came to mind when I received the enclosed clipping from our daughter, Bonnie Nelson, who is now living in Greenbelt, Maryland. It was sent to her by her parents - in - law, the Hilding C. Nelsons, who live in Mount Vernon, Washington. They had clipped it from the Pullman (Wash.) Herald.

I have enjoyed reading the editorials from other papers in THE STANDARD and thought perhaps you would be interested in knowing that your editorials are being read from coast to coast.

Very truly yours,
Glenda W. Conrad

OTHER EDITORS SAY

It's Called Living by the Numbers

(From The Sikeston (Mo.) Daily Standard)

IN WALLA WALLA, Washington, fifteen female inmates at the Wasington State Prison have been key-punching all the State's laws. To date they have punched out a million cards for the State's computer, and very shortly they'll start on the decisions of the attorney general - another million cards.

The female convicts draw 10 cents an hour for their work in the beginning, then rise to 15 cents an hour when they become expert. Proficiency earns a premium.

Said one of the skilled keypunchers. "Times really have changed. Ten years ago, nobody outside the walls knew what we were doing. Nobody cared. Now we don't even have to be embarrassed about having a number. I mean, everybody has a number. I mean, everybody has a number in the computer age - even the governor."

And so he does

One man with a number happens to be a prominent newspaperman and author. He is a word craftsman without peer. His number came up on one of those giant computers installed by a nationwide oil company, and he received in the mail a deftly computerized threat to have him in court, forthwith, if he failed to pay his overdue balance by return post.

Now it happened that the wordsman didn't owe even a penny to the oil company. His letter to the computer was gentlemanly mule-skinner, and probably the most eloquent two paragraphs he has composed in a distinguished career. It is a fixture on bulletin boards in the computer department of companies the length and breadth of the land. The computer had erred, and tagged him with the delinquency of a poor soul with the same name - in a different section of the country.

Not long ago the bookkeeper for a well - established firm was hospitalized. The management wanted to keep the job open, and willing co-workers joined the boss in keeping things signed her name to one request for clarification of a disputed invoice.

The next month she received a demand for payment of an overdue bill of less than twenty dollars and a threat of permanent blight on her. credit if she failed to present her check by return mail. It was, of course, the company's bill, which had been paid in the interim.

But the secret is still receiving threats, demands, and notice that her credit is kaput in every credit and collection service in the nation. We all have a number. Wait until you have to write a letter to a computer!

Dear Mr. Blanton
In regards to your front page article date May 21st, Mr. Miller complained that he felt the news medica had made the matter worse, the situation when you reported that Chief Ramsey was having to resign because he wasn't receiving a living wage.

Well I can't see how any one could make the matter worse any more than Mr. Miller has by hiring two men that have had no fire fighting experience.

And how could it get any worse when the three councilman, Noles, Harbin and Ziegenhorn made the comment they did, about they wouldn't try to keep Miller from letting them go.

I say Chief Ramsey and his assistant needed that raise they asked for because they have earned it. Also I think it shows sorry management and sorry counceling.

'I've Got Mine, Jack'

Now that the Justice Fortas affair is over, Congress not only should require members of the judiciary to bare their full financial holdings; members of Congress should bare theirs as well.

It is absurd that a Senator can hide his full financial record in a white envelope that can only be opened upon petition, while an Executive Branch appointee must present his holdings as being lily - white and free from stain.

How foolish it is to permit those who sit in judgment to be free from any need to present their finances to the public eye, while those they judge must completely bare their souls. A couple of not unique examples: It is quite proper for a Senator Eastland to accept money from the public farm allotment program - some $200,000 last year - even though he is a member of the committee charged with overseeing such things; but a Supreme Court Justice is wrong for accepting a $20,000 fee as a consultant on race and religious questions from a private foundation.

And it is quite proper for a Senator Long of Louisiana, the self-styled "darlin" of the oil interests who has made his fortune in oil, to oversee oil interests in the Senate; but, it is wrong for a Supreme Court Justice to accept payment for lectures give at a private university.

It is just this type of hypocrisy that is eating at the American soul today. And is this type of hypocrisy tht that provides justification for those Americans who hold a philosophy which says, "I've got mine, Jack..."

BLYTHEVILLE AIR FORCE BASE, Ark., -- The United States Air Force's largest bomber, the B-52 Stratofortress, will no longer be heard soaring low in the skies over Blytheville Air Force Base after April of 1970. Blytheville, the home of the 97th Bombardment Wing, is slated to become a Tactical Air Command base in April 1970.

The 64th Tactical Airlift Wing, equipped with C-130E aircraft, will be relocated at Blytheville from Sewart Air Force Base, Tennessee. The 64th TAW is a Tactical Air Command unit.

The 97th Bomb Wing will be inactivated in April of 1970, with personnel and equipment being transferred to other Strategic Air Command units. The 97th Air Refueling Squadron will move from Blytheville at approximately the same time.

Authorized manpower at Blytheville will remain unchanged at approximately the same level after the mission change.

Blytheville was activated June 10, 1942, as an advanced flying school in the Southeastern Training Command's pilot training program. It continued its role as a training center for World War II pilots until the end of the war.

After the war the base was utilized almost exclusively as a processing center for personnel being discharged. It was inactivated in October 1954, after three years and five months of service. After deactivation it was placed under administrative control of the Air Material Command.

TAC assumed control of the base on reactivation July 15, 1955. Blytheville became fully operational April 7, 1956, with a TAC Wing composed of three squadrons of B-57 medium bombers.

TAC's 461st Bombardment Wing was inactivated on April 1, 1958. At that time the 4229th Air Base Squadron was established in SAC's Second Air Force for the purpose of assuming control of Blytheville.

The 4229th remained the occupying organization at the base until July 1, 1959, when the 97th Combat Support Group, the present unit at Blytheville, took charge of base activities.

The 97th Bomb Wing is commanded at present by Colonel Eugene D. Minietta.

GARAGE SALES

This immensly popular way of converting unused household items to cold cash in the larger Metropolitan areas is catching on in Sikeston. Watch The Daily Standard for this great way of picking up the items you want

If your tired of stumbling over unused furniture, appliances clothing, etc. why not consider having a garage sale? With inflation pushing prices up almost daily, more and more people are looking for good used merchandise. If you don't believe your used merchandise is valuable, try pricing them at a second hand Store. Because of the interest in collecting old items, even your old magazines,newspapers, comic books, etc.may be valuable.

Plan now to have a garage sale. Neighbors might want to get together and have a group sale. Clubs - Womens, Civic, Service-find this an excellent way of raising funds.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, May 26, the 146th day of 1969. There are 219 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1868, U. S. senators seeking removal of President Andrew Johnson lost their case. The impeachment forces lost by one vote.

On this date:

In 1790, Tennessee was organized as a territory.

In 1805, Napoleon Bonaparte was crowned king of Italy.

In 1864, the U. S. Congress created the Montana Territory.

In 1942, during the World War II, German forces began their drives for Stalingrad and the Caucasus.

In 1964, the funeral ship of the Egyptian Pharaoh Cheops was discovered in a limestone chamber near the Great Pyramid of Giza in Ebypt.

In 1966, Britain granted independence to the South American country of Guyana.

Ten years ago: Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir said her nation was astounded that the United Nations had failed to enforce free navigation through the Suez Canal.

Five years ago: The United Arab Republic and Iraq signed a pact they said was thefirst step toward full Arab unity.

Oneyearago: The United States charged at preliminary peace talks in paris that North Vietnamese troops had crossed the demilitarized zone to carry out an attack.

Six Injured In Two Highway Accidents

Six persons were injured two in area highway accidents over Saturday and Sunday, as result of excessive speed, four in a two car accident north of Fruitland, and two on the Rodeo road, northeast of Sikeston.

In an accident Sunday at 2:50 a.m. on the Rodeo blacktop road, northeast of Sikeston, a 1966 Mercury, driven by Ricky Lee Holyfield, 19, route two, Sikeston, the car came around a curve at a high speed, left the road and struck a telephone pole.

Holyfield received cuts on his knee, while a passenger, Anthony Chappagne, 30, Oak Park, Ill., had severe cuts on his face.

Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Four teenagers were injured, when an 1967 Ford, driven by James Donald Owen, 17, Cape Girardeau, traveling at high speed, slid in the wrong lane and struck a 1964 Ford, driven by Sharon Ruth Mayfield, 18, Jackson.

Owen received scratches and bruises, and a passenger; Bob Ray, 16, Cape Girardeau, received a broken right leg, bruised knee and arm.

Both were taken to Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Miss Mayfield, driver of the second car, had cuts and bruises of the face, and a passenger, Keith Mayfield, 9, had cuts and bruises on the body. Both were treated by a Jackson physician.

The patrol said the Owen car was traveling at a high speed when he approached another car, who was making a right turn. He applied his brakes, but his car went into the wrong lane and struck the Mayfield car.

Delmo Corp. Awards Aid 37 Southeast Students

LILBOURN — High school scholarship awards have been granted to thirty-seven students attending schools in Southeast Missouri May 17, 1969, at the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Delmo Housing Corporation, Lilbourn, Missouri. These scholarships were made possible through donations received from throughout the United States.

The cost for one scholarship per a nine month school year is $67.50 or $7.50 per month. All scholarship contributions are sent to the Delmo Office and then each month checks are mailed to school principals to be given to the selected students. All contributions made to the scholarship programs are tax deductible for federal and state income tax purposes.

The scholarship program is designed to serve as an incentive for students to complete high school. Often a scholarship can benefit a student as such that he can remain in school rather than dropping out due to a family financial strain. The Scholarship award is to be used to pay for school lunches, book fees, class activity fees, and etc.

Student aid is designed to produce community leadership as well as adding to earning power. It had long been felt that inadequate means and the pressing need for young people to begin contribution to the family income as soon as possible had deprived many boys and girls with naturally high intelligence of the opportunity to cultivate their abilities to the full. All those receiving aid for their schooling have been certified by their teachers for learning ability, character, preservance, personality and a cooperative spirit.

Approximately $2500 yearly is involved in these scholarship, which are counted as a sound investment in the future.

The following students are included as recipients for a 1969-70 school year scholarship award.

Lilbourn: Para Lee Wiley, Alvin McFerren, Shelia Edwards, Brenda Treadwell, Jerome Wilderness, Sherman Jennings, Jane Wilson, Deborah Tannehill, Donna Tannehill and Carolyn Allred.

Wyatt- Beulahre Robinson, Beverly Weems, Beverly McCleary, Bobby Weems, Carolyn Rogers and Floyd Neal.

Hayti, Missouri - Sally Garner, Jimmy Gorman and James Bunch.

Circle City - Wayne Kerley and Larry Case.

Howardville - Ronald Treadwell, Charles Gibbs, and Myrtle Washington.

East Prairie - Fredia Busby.

Morehouse - Danny Sutton.

Wardell- Valorie Holland, Mary Hudson, Marshall Luster, Sammuel Augustus, Willard Griggs, Johnny McGaughy and Roby Tolbert.
